SAP Certified Associate - Design Thinking Sample Questions (Q23-Q28):

NEW QUESTION # 23

What are the objectives of the ideation phase? Note: There are 2 correct answers to this question.

- A. Validate ideas with users
- B. Prioritize ideas
- C. Iterate from solution to problem space.
- D. Generate as many ideas as possible.

Answer: B,D

Explanation:

The ideation phase is a critical stage in the SAP Design Thinking methodology, where the focus shifts from understanding the problem (discovery phase) to generating and refining potential solutions. Below is a detailed explanation of the correct answers and why they align with the objectives of this phase:

* Definition: The ideation phase encourages divergent thinking, which involves brainstorming a large number of ideas without filtering or critiquing them initially.

- * Why it's an objective:
- * The goal is to explore a wide range of possibilities and ensure that no potential solution is overlooked.
- * By generating a high volume of ideas, the team increases the likelihood of discovering innovative and creative solutions.
- * SAP Design Thinking methodology emphasizes the importance of quantity over quality during this stage, as it fosters creativity and opens up new avenues for exploration.

NEW QUESTION # 24

You are in the ideation phase and you want the team to brainstorm ideas for solving the challenge. However, the team is not generating enough ideas. As coach, how do you manage this situation? Note: There are 2 correct answers to this question.

- A. Add additional members to the team.
- B. Make sure the team creates good brainstorming questions
- C. Influence the energy level in the team by pushing them, for example, with questions like "What would superman do?"
- D. Step in as soon as the team creates "wild ideas" to refocus the team and increase the number of ideas generated.

Answer: B,C

NEW QUESTION # 25

As a Design Thinking coach, what rules of engagement do you have to communicate to participants to ensure that workshops are successful. Note: There are 2 correct answers to this question.

- A. Judge ideas early
- B. Everyone must participate actively
- C. Everyone has a voice.
- D. Keep divergent perspectives within the design teams to a minimum

Answer: B,C

Explanation:

In SAP Design Thinking methodology, the success of workshops heavily relies on creating an inclusive and participatory environment where every participant feels valued and heard. The rules of engagement are designed to foster collaboration, creativity, and innovation. Here's why the correct answers are C and D:

* Everyone must participate actively (C): Active participation is a cornerstone of SAP Design Thinking workshops. It ensures that all participants contribute their unique perspectives, ideas, and expertise.

This rule helps prevent passive observation and encourages ownership of the process. According to SAP's Design Thinking guidelines, active participation leads to richer discussions, more diverse ideas, and better problem-solving outcomes.

* Everyone has a voice (D): Inclusive communication is another critical principle in SAP Design Thinking. Ensuring that everyone has a voice means that no single individual or group dominates the conversation. This rule promotes psychological safety, enabling participants to share unconventional or risky ideas without fear of judgment. SAP emphasizes the importance of inclusivity to leverage the full potential of multidisciplinary teams.

Incorrect Options:

* A. Judge ideas early: Judging ideas early contradicts the core principles of Design Thinking. SAP advocates for deferring judgment during brainstorming sessions to encourage creativity and exploration.

Early judgment can stifle innovation and discourage participants from sharing novel ideas.

* B. Keep divergent perspectives within the design teams to a minimum: Divergent perspectives are essential in Design Thinking.

SAP encourages diversity in thought and experience to uncover unique insights and solutions. Limiting divergent perspectives would hinder the creative process and lead to less innovative outcomes.
