NEW QUESTION # 382

Which of the following is a benefit of microservice applications in a cloud environment?

- A. Federation is a mandatory component for an optimized microservice deployment.
- B. Microservices are dependent on external shared databases found on cloud solutions.
- C. Microservice applications use orchestration solutions to update components in each service.
- D. The architecture of microservice applications allows the use of auto-scaling.

Answer: D

Explanation:

Microservice applications are composed of many smaller, loosely coupled, and independently deployable services, each with its own responsibility and technology stack¹. One of the benefits of microservice applications in a cloud environment is that they can use auto-scaling, which is the ability to automatically adjust the amount of computing resources allocated to a service based on the current demand². Auto-scaling can help improve the performance, availability, and cost-efficiency of microservice applications, as it allows each service to scale up or down according to its own needs, without affecting the rest of the application². Auto-scaling can also help handle unpredictable or variable workloads, such as spikes in traffic or seasonal fluctuations². Auto-scaling can be implemented using different cloud services, such as Google Kubernetes Engine (GKE) or Cloud Run, which provide both horizontal and vertical scaling options for microservice applications³⁴. NEW QUESTION # 385

Which of the following allows an IP address to be referenced via an easily remembered name for a SaaS application?

- A. CDN
- B. DNS
- C. VPN
- D. WAN

Answer: B

Explanation:

DNS stands for Domain Name System, which is a service that translates domain names into IP addresses. Domain names are easier to remember than IP addresses, and they can also change without affecting the users. For example, a SaaS application can have a domain name like www.saas.com, which can be resolved to different IP addresses depending on the location, availability, and performance of the servers. DNS allows users to access the SaaS application by typing the domain name in their browser, instead of memorizing the IP address.
