NEW QUESTION # 36

After a recent mobile OS upgrade to a smartphone, a user attempts to access their corporate email, but the application does not open. A technician restarts the smartphone, but the issue persists. Which of the following is the most likely way to resolve the issue?

- A. Installing a third-party client
- B. Registering the smartphone with an MDM solution
- C. Clearing the cache partition
- D. Updating the failed software

Answer: D

Explanation:

Comprehensive and Detailed Explanation From Exact Extract:

Mobile OS updates can sometimes cause compatibility issues with specific apps, including corporate email clients. The most likely resolution is to check for and apply an update to the affected application, especially if it hasn't been updated to support the latest OS version.

B: Registering with MDM might be required for access but wouldn't address app crashes due to incompatibility.

C: A third-party client might help, but it's not the best first step if the default app is expected to work.

DL Clearing the cache can help resolve some minor issues, but updating the app directly addresses compatibility concerns.

NEW QUESTION # 37

A Windows 11 Home device is receiving constant pop-ups about an urgent need to update antivirus software to remove a detected threat. The user has been clicking the "X" button in the window frame but it always reappears. The pop-up includes an "OK" button to install the update and remove the threat. Which of the following should the user do next?

- A. Reinstall the Windows Operating System
- B. Run System File Checker
- C. Verify the current status and settings of protection measures
- D. Click the "OK" button to install the update

Answer: C

Explanation:

Comprehensive and Detailed Explanation From Exact Extract:

This is likely a rogue antivirus or scareware tactic. The user should not click "OK" and instead check Windows Security (or third-party antivirus) status and ensure real-time protection is enabled.

From Mark Soper - Mike Meyers' Lab Manual:

"Users should verify security center settings if receiving suspicious pop-ups. Clicking unknown software updates can install malware. It's safer to validate protection through legitimate system tools."

NEW QUESTION # 38

After a user installs a mobile application from an advertisement, the phone's battery dies a few hours later, and it is hot to the touch, even when not in use. Which of the following should a technician do first?

- A. Contact the software developer
- B. Run a mobile malware scan on the phone

- C. Check for unauthorized device administrators
- D. Ensure appropriate MDM policies are applied

Answer: B

Explanation:

Comprehensive and Detailed Explanation From Exact Extract:

These symptoms strongly suggest malware activity-likely from the newly installed app. The first action should be to run a malware scan to detect and isolate malicious software.

From Quentin Docter - CompTIA A+ Study Guide:

"Signs of malware infection include rapid battery drain and overheating. The first step should be a malware scan using trusted mobile antivirus apps."

NEW QUESTION # 39

A user reports getting a BSOD (Blue Screen of Death) error on their computer at least twice a day. Which of the following should the technician use to determine the cause?

- A. Device Manager
- B. Performance Monitor
- C. System Information
- D. Event Viewer

Answer: D

Explanation:

Comprehensive and Detailed Explanation From Exact Extract:

Event Viewer is the primary tool used to investigate system-level errors and logs, including BSODs. When a BSOD occurs, Windows logs the error codes and associated system behavior under "System" logs in Event Viewer. This allows the technician to review crash events, identify error codes (e.g., STOP codes), and pinpoint hardware or driver issues.

B: Performance Monitor is used for real-time performance tracking and trend analysis, not crash logs.

C: System Information displays system specs but not crash logs or events.

D: Device Manager shows device status and driver issues but doesn't retain error logs related to BSODs.

Reference:

CompTIA A+ 220-1102 Objective 3.1: Given a scenario, troubleshoot common Windows OS problems.

Study Guide Section: Troubleshooting BSODs using Event Viewer and system logs

NEW QUESTION # 40

A user wants to dispose of a failed hard drive in a way that ensures the data is unrecoverable. Which of the following is the best at-home method?

- A. Shredding
- B. Degaussing
- C. Standard formatting
- D. Drilling
- E. Low-level formatting

Answer: A

Explanation:

Comprehensive and Detailed Explanation From Exact Extract:

Shredding physically destroys the platters, making data recovery virtually impossible. It's more effective and accessible than degaussing or low-level formatting.

From Quentin Docter - CompTIA A+ Complete Study Guide:

"Physical destruction methods like shredding are the most secure options for ensuring data on failed drives cannot be recovered."
