The administrator at Universal Containers does a soft launch of the Salesforce Authenticator app and allows users to optionally use it to log in. The administrator would now like to look at how many users have successfully used it since it was rolled out. What are two ways the administrator can get this information?

Choose 2 answers

- A. Open the Login Access Policies in Setup which shows how many users are using MFA.
- B. The order of flow execution is unpredictable
- C. Create a new view in Identity Verification History, specifying Method.
- D. Run a session setting report, specifying login methods by user.

Answer: C,D

Explanation:

Salesforce Authenticator is an app that allows users to verify their identity when logging in to Salesforce using two-factor authentication (2FA). 2FA adds an extra layer of security by requiring users to enter a verification code or approve a notification on their mobile device after entering their username and password.

To look at how many users have successfully used Salesforce Authenticator since it was rolled out, an administrator can use two ways:

* A) Run a session setting report, specifying login methods by user.

A session setting report is a report that shows information about users' login sessions, such as login time, location, IP address, browser, platform, etc. A session setting report can also show the login methods used by users, such as password, verification code, or notification. By running a session setting report, specifying login methods by user, an administrator can see how many users have used Salesforce Authenticator to log in to Salesforce.
