NEW QUESTION # 48

You want to retrieve the users who subscribed to the Fitness Newsletter from email accounts. What is the correct way to query the information?

- A. SELECT * FROM fullAccounts WHERE subscriptions.<Fitness>.email.isSubscribed=true
- B. SELECT * FROM emailAccounts WHERE subscriptions.<Fitness>.email.hasFullAccount=true
- C. SELECT * FROM emailAccounts WHERE subscriptions.<Fitness>.email.isSubscribed=true AND subscriptions.<Fitness>.email.hasFullAccount=true
- D. SELECT * FROM emailAccounts WHERE subscriptions.<Fitness>.email.isSubscribed=true

Answer: D

Explanation:

To retrieve users who have subscribed to the "Fitness Newsletter" from email accounts, you need to query the emailAccountstable and filter based on the subscription status. The correct query is:

* D: SELECT * FROM emailAccounts WHERE subscriptions.<Fitness>.email.isSubscribed=true This query checks if the user is subscribed (isSubscribed=true) to the "Fitness" newsletter specifically for email accounts.

The other options are incorrect:

* A: hasFullAccount=true is unnecessary because the query is focused on email accounts, not full accounts.

* B: Adding hasFullAccount=true is redundant and incorrect for this use case.

* C: Querying fullAccounts is irrelevant because the requirement specifies retrieving users from email accounts, not full accounts.

NEW QUESTION # 51

Which of the following are OpenID Connect terminology?

Note: There are 2 correct answers to this question.

- A. Metadata
- B. Scope
- C. Claims
- D. Assertion

Answer: B,C

Explanation:

OpenID Connect (OIDC) is an identity layer built on top of the OAuth 2.0 protocol, enabling clients to verify the identity of the end-user based on the authentication performed by an authorization server. The following terms are part of OpenID Connect terminology:

* Claims: These are pieces of information about the user (e.g., name, email, etc.) that are returned in the ID token or userinfo response. Claims represent the attributes of the authenticated user and are essential for conveying identity information.

* Scope: This defines the level of access requested by the client application. In OpenID Connect, scopes are used to specify what claims should be returned in the ID token or userinfo response. For example, the `openid` scope is required for OpenID Connect authentication, while additional scopes like `profile` or `email` can request more user details.

The other options are not directly part of OpenID Connect terminology:

* Metadata: While metadata exists in the context of OpenID Connect (e.g., provider configuration metadata), it is not a core term within the protocol itself.

* Assertion: This term is more commonly associated with SAML (Security Assertion Markup Language) rather than OpenID Connect.

SAP Customer Data Cloud References:

* SAP Customer Data Cloud supports OpenID Connect as part of its identity management capabilities.

The platform allows integration with OIDC-compliant identity providers.

* Official SAP Documentation: SAP Customer Data Cloud - OpenID Connect Integration.

* OpenID Connect Core Specification: OpenID Connect Core 1.0.
