NEW QUESTION # 22

What is the purpose of creating test data and "dummy" users?

- A. Conducting OGL kickoff
- B. Meeting OGL data requirements
- C. Determining the project scope and timeline

Answer: B

Explanation:

Test data and "dummy" users are created to meet OGL data requirements, enabling realistic testing of guides and processes in a controlled environment. This ensures content functionality without impacting live data. Determining scope and timeline (option A) is a planning activity, and conducting the kickoff (option B) is a meeting, neither of which involves test data directly.

NEW QUESTION # 23

What approaches can be adopted to meet OGL data requirements?

- A. Create test data and "dummy" users, use a masked environment, or use an unmasked environment
- B. Use a UAT environment, sign in with an external personal account, and stand by for go live.
- C. Create generic user accounts, create ad hoc content, and use an external host application.

Answer: A

Explanation:

Meeting OGL data requirements involves creating test data and "dummy" users, or using masked/unmasked environments to simulate real conditions safely. Options B and C include impractical or unrelated approaches.

NEW QUESTION # 24

In the Enable phase, which activities are the Organizational Change and Training Leads responsible for?

- A. Communicating known and new issues, and workarounds that will impact users
- B. Establishing mechanisms for collecting feedback and insights from end users
- C. Developing knowledge and skills with project governance plans

Answer: C

Explanation:

In the Enable phase of an OGL project, Organizational Change and Training Leads focus on developing knowledge and skills among users and stakeholders, often aligned with project governance plans to ensure adoption and competency (option C). This phase emphasizes training delivery and change management to enable successful use of OGL. Establishing feedback mechanisms (option A) and communicating issues (option B) are typically responsibilities of other roles (e.g., administrators or support leads) during later phases like Refine or Hypercare. Option C reflects the Leads' strategic role in building capability, ensuring the organization is equipped to leverage OGL effectively as part of the broader deployment approach.

NEW QUESTION # 25

Where in the OGL console can users provide step-level feedback on a guide?

- A. In the Guide or Step Comments fields within the Content Editor
- B. In the feedback field within the Feedback Analytics dashboard
- C. In the Step Settings section of the Full Editor
- D. In the Description field of the Guide Settings modal

Answer: A

Explanation:

In the OGL console, step-level feedback is provided directly within the Content Editor, specifically in the Guide or Step Comments fields. This allows users to annotate specific steps or the entire guide during development or review, ensuring detailed and contextual feedback. The Feedback Analytics dashboard (option A) is for analyzing feedback trends, not submitting it. Step Settings (option C) adjusts configurations, and the Description field in Guide Settings (option D) is for metadata, not feedback. The Content Editor is the correct tool for this purpose.
