Scrum Professional Scrum Product Owner II Sample Questions (Q61-Q66):

NEW QUESTION # 61

Managing a Product Backlog involves which of the following activities?
(choose all that apply)

- A. Reviewing the Product Backlog with stakeholders.
- B. Forecasting the effort of Product Backlog items.
- C. Ordering the Product Backlog.
- D. Reducing or eliminating dependencies between Product Backlog items.
- E. Breaking large Product Backlog items into multiple smaller Product Backlog items.

Answer: A,C,D,E

Explanation:

Product Backlog involves the following activities^{1,2}:

Reducing or eliminating dependencies between Product Backlog items. This helps to increase the flexibility and adaptability of the Product Backlog, and enables the Developers to select the most valuable and feasible items to work on in each Sprint³.

Reviewing the Product Backlog with stakeholders. This helps to ensure that the Product Backlog reflects the needs and expectations of the customers and users, and that the Product Owner receives feedback and input from various perspectives⁴.

Breaking large Product Backlog items into multiple smaller Product Backlog items. This helps to create a more granular and transparent Product Backlog, and allows the Product Owner to prioritize and refine the items more effectively⁵.

Ordering the Product Backlog. This helps to communicate the relative importance and urgency of the Product Backlog items, and guides the Developers to select the most valuable items for the next Sprint.

Forecasting the effort of Product Backlog items is not an activity that is explicitly required for managing a Product Backlog. The Product Owner is mainly responsible for maximizing the value of the product, not the effort or cost of development. The effort of Product Backlog items may be estimated by the Developers, but this is not a mandatory practice and it does not affect the ordering of the Product Backlog. References: 1:

NEW QUESTION # 62

Experimentation can help a Product Owner to: (select all that apply)

- A. Reduce waste
- B. Understand the Product/Market fit and business viability of a product.
- C. Have complete certainty as to the future success of a product.
- D. Make decisions on whether to invest and build something.

Answer: A,B,D

NEW QUESTION # 63

What are the three elements of a User Story? (choose the best three answers).

- A. Compliance
- B. Card
- C. Completeness
- D. Conversation
- E. Confirmation

Answer: B,D,E

NEW QUESTION # 64

Sharing people with unique skills across multiple teams will likely result in which of the following conditions? (choose the best answer)

- A. Costs are lower since expensive resources are shared.
- B. Teams do not have to develop deep technical skills.
- C. Teams may wait more often, impeding the delivery of value.
- D. More work gets done since people are better utilized.

Answer: C

Explanation:

Sharing people with unique skills across multiple teams will likely result in teams having to wait more often for those people to be available, impeding the delivery of value. This is because those people will have to context-switch between different teams, products, and domains, reducing their focus and efficiency¹. Moreover, sharing people with unique skills will create bottlenecks and dependencies in the delivery process, increasing the risk of delays and quality issues². Furthermore, sharing people with unique skills will discourage teams from developing deep technical skills themselves, making them less cross-functional and self-organizing³. Therefore, the best answer is A.

The other options are not correct because:

* B. Teams do not have to develop deep technical skills. This is not a desirable condition, as it contradicts the Scrum value of commitment and the principle of continuous improvement. Teams should strive to develop deep technical skills to deliver high-quality products and to respond to changing requirements and technologies⁴.

* C. Costs are lower since expensive resources are shared. This is not necessarily true, as the costs of context-switching, waiting, and quality issues may outweigh the benefits of sharing resources. Moreover, this option implies a resource-oriented mindset, rather than a value-oriented mindset, which is not aligned with the Scrum framework and the Product Owner role⁵.

* D. More work gets done since people are better utilized. This is not a valid measure of success, as the amount of work done does not reflect the value delivered. Moreover, this option implies a utilization-oriented mindset, rather than an outcome-oriented mindset, which is not aligned with the Scrum framework and the Product Owner role. NEW QUESTION # 65

What is a benefit of frequent product releases? (choose the best answer)

- A. None of the above.
- B. Smaller, more frequent releases are less risky.
- C. They help teams to learn how to correct and eliminate errors.
- D. All of the above.
- E. They help teams better understand and meet customer needs.
- F. They enable teams to inspect and adapt more frequently.

Answer: D

Explanation:

Frequent product releases are beneficial for several reasons. They enable teams to inspect and adapt more frequently, which means they can get faster feedback, validate their assumptions, and improve their product incrementally. They help teams better understand and meet customer needs, which means they can deliver more value, increase customer satisfaction, and build trust and loyalty. They help teams to learn how to correct and eliminate errors, which means they can reduce waste, improve quality, and prevent technical debt. Smaller, more frequent releases are less risky, which means they can reduce uncertainty, avoid big-bang failures, and enable faster recovery¹²³.
