NEW QUESTION # 11

How do secure views contribute to data analysis practices in terms of access control and data security?

- A. They restrict data access but don't impact data security.
- B. Secure views enhance data security while allowing selective data access.
- C. They prevent the creation of materialized views.
- D. Secure views limit data accessibility for improved security.

Answer: B

Explanation:

Secure views enhance data security while allowing selective data access.

NEW QUESTION # 12

A financial institution needs to build a dashboard to monitor fraudulent transactions. They have transaction data (amount, timestamp, location, merchant category), customer data (age, income, credit score), and fraud flags. They want to identify patterns and correlations that indicate potentially fraudulent activity. Which of the following visualizations and Snowflake features, when used in combination, would be MOST effective for this purpose? (Select TWO)

- A. Utilize a heatmap visualization in a Tableau dashboard to show the correlation between merchant category, transaction amount, and fraud flag. Implement interactive filters for customer age, income, and location. Implement Snowflake Row Access Policy to restrict data to specific users.
- B. Use Snowflake's secure data sharing to share the raw transaction data with a third-party analytics vendor.
- C. Develop an interactive dashboard using Power BI connected to Snowflake, incorporating a geographical map showing transaction locations, a time series chart of transaction volume, and a scatter plot of transaction amount vs. customer credit score. Use anomaly detection algorithms in Snowflake (via Snowpark or stored procedures using Python) to highlight unusual transactions. Implement User defined table Function in Power BI to generate more data.
- D. Create a static report showing the total number of fraudulent transactions per month, using Snowflake's aggregate functions.
- E. Export the transaction data to a data lake and use Spark to perform fraud detection.

Answer: A,C

Explanation:

Options B and D are the most effective. Option B utilizes an interactive dashboard with Power BI, incorporating geographical, temporal, and scatter plot visualizations to identify patterns. Anomaly detection algorithms in Snowflake further enhance the detection capabilities. Option D uses a heatmap to show correlations between key variables and implements interactive filters for detailed exploration. Implementing Row Access Policy would control data access, adding a security layer on top of sensitive financial data. Option A is not related to visualization or identifying correlations. Option C provides only a high-level summary. Option E involves exporting data outside Snowflake, which is less efficient and potentially less secure than using Snowflake's built-in capabilities.
