CompTIA PT0-002 Exam Outline - New PT0-002 Test Test

You can easily use the PDF format on your tablets, laptops, and smartphones. It means you can save your free time and read Actual PT0-002 PDF Questions from any place. So, get PDF questions, study it properly and have faith in yourself. You can reach new heights and prove yourself to those who used to think that you are not worth competing with them.

The PT0-002 Exam is vendor-neutral, meaning that it is not tied to any specific product or technology. This makes it an ideal certification for cybersecurity professionals who want to gain a broad understanding of penetration testing concepts and techniques and demonstrate their competency in the field. CompTIA PenTest+ Certification certification is recognized globally and is often required by employers as a prerequisite for jobs in penetration testing and ethical hacking.

CompTIA PenTest+ Certification Sample Questions (Q68-Q73):

NEW QUESTION # 68

A company is concerned that its cloud VM is vulnerable to a cyberattack and proprietary data may be stolen. A penetration tester determines a vulnerability does exist and exploits the vulnerability by adding a fake VM instance to the IaaS component of the client's VM. Which of the following cloud attacks did the penetration tester MOST likely implement?

- A. Cross-site scripting
- B. Direct-to-origin
- C. Malware injection
- D. Credential harvesting

Answer: C

Explanation:

Malware injection is the most likely cloud attack that the penetration tester implemented, as it involves adding a fake VM instance to the IaaS component of the client's VM. Malware injection is a type of attack that exploits vulnerabilities in cloud services or applications to inject malicious code or data into them. The injected malware can then compromise or control the cloud resources or data.

NEW QUESTION # 69

Which of the following should a penetration tester consider FIRST when engaging in a penetration test in a cloud environment?

- A. Whether the specific cloud services are being used by the application
- B. The geographical location where the cloud services are running
- C. Whether the cloud service provider allows the penetration tester to test the environment
- D. Whether the country where the cloud service is based has any impeding laws

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 70

A red team completed an engagement and provided the following example in the report to describe how the team gained access to a web server:

x' OR role LIKE '%admin%

Which of the following should be recommended to remediate this vulnerability?

- A. Encrypted communications
- B. Secure software development life cycle
- C. Parameterized queries
- D. Multifactor authentication

Answer: C

Explanation:

Explanation

The best recommendation to remediate this vulnerability is to use parameterized queries in the web application. Parameterized queries are a way of preventing SQL injection attacks by separating the SQL statements from the user input. This way, the user input is treated as a literal value and not as part of the SQL statement. For example, instead of using x' OR role LIKE '%admin%', the user input would be passed as a parameter to a prepared statement that would check if it matches any value in the database.

NEW QUESTION # 71

The results of an Nmap scan are as follows:

Starting Nmap 7.80 ( https://nmap.org ) at 2021-01-24 01:10 EST
Nmap scan report for ( 192.168.1.1 )
Host is up (0.0035s latency).
Not shown: 996 filtered ports

Port	State	Service	Version
22/tcp	open	ssh	OpenSSH 6.6.1p1
53/tcp	open	domain	dnsmasq 2.72
80/tcp	open	http	lighttpd
443/tcp	open	ssl/http	httpd

Service Info: OS: Linux; Device: router; CPE: cpe:/o:linux:linux_kernel

Service detection performed. Please report any incorrect results at <https://nmap.org/submit/>.
Nmap done: 1 IP address (1 host up) scanned in 18.45 seconds

Which of the following would be the BEST conclusion about this device?

- A. This device is most likely a gateway with in-band management services.
- B. This device is most likely a proxy server forwarding requests over TCP/443.
- C. This device may be vulnerable to the Heartbleed bug due to the way transactions over TCP/22 handle heartbeat extension packets, allowing attackers to obtain sensitive information from process memory.
- D. This device may be vulnerable to remote code execution because of a buffer overflow vulnerability in the method used to extract DNS names from packets prior to DNSSEC validation.

Answer: A

Explanation:

The heart bleed bug is an open ssl bug which does not affect SSH Ref: <https://www.sos-berlin.com/en/news-heartbleed-bug-does-not-affect-jobscheduler-or-ssh>

NEW QUESTION # 72

Which of the following factors would a penetration tester most likely consider when testing at a location?

- A. Establish the time of the day when a test can occur.
- B. Ensure all testers can access all sites.
- C. Determine if visas are required.
- D. Verify the tools being used are legal for use at all sites.

Answer: A

Explanation:

Explanation

One of the factors that a penetration tester would most likely consider when testing at a location is to establish the time of day when a test can occur. This factor can affect the scope, duration, and impact of the test, as well as the availability and response of the client and the testers. Testing at different times of day can have different advantages and disadvantages, such as testing during business hours to simulate realistic scenarios and traffic patterns, or testing after hours to reduce disruption and interference. Testing at different locations may also require adjusting for different time zones and daylight saving times. Establishing the time of day when a test can occur can help plan and coordinate the test effectively and avoid confusion or conflict with the client or other parties involved in the test. The other options are not factors that a penetration tester would most likely consider when testing at a location.
