CISI Investment Funds in Canada (IFC) Exam Sample Questions (Q91-Q96):

NEW QUESTION # 91

You are concerned about upcoming weakness in the Canadian dollar. Which type of fund should you invest in?

- A. An international fund that hedges its foreign currency risk
- B. A specialty fund that uses derivatives to hedge the value of its portfolio
- C. A global fund that does not hedge its foreign currency risk
- D. A global fund that hedges its foreign currency risk

Answer: C

Explanation:

A global fund that does not hedge foreign currency risk benefits from a weakening Canadian dollar, as the value of foreign investments increases in Canadian dollar terms. The feedback from the document states:

"Global mutual funds are attractive in that they can provide a hedge against a decline in the relative value of the Canadian dollar... It is important for mutual fund sales representatives to know whether their global mutual funds hedge foreign exchange risk, because some clients will want to bear that risk themselves, while others will not." NEW QUESTION # 92

Stan, a portfolio manager, is looking at two steel companies as potential investments. Trueteel Inc. has a current ratio of 2:1 while Strongco Ltd. has a current ratio of 0.8:1.

What could this information indicate?

- A. Strongco is relying less on debt financing than Trueteel.
- B. It appears that Trueteel is more profitable than Strongco.
- C. The stock market is more optimistic about the prospects for Trueteel than Strongco.
- D. Trueteel is better able to meet its short-term financial obligations than Strongco.

Answer: D

Explanation:

The current ratio is a liquidity ratio that measures a company's ability to pay its short-term obligations with its current assets. A higher current ratio indicates that the company has more current assets than current liabilities, which means it can meet its short-term obligations more easily. A lower current ratio indicates that the company has less current assets than current liabilities, which means it may face liquidity problems or default risk. Therefore, the information given in the question indicates that Trueteel is better able to meet its short-term financial obligations than Strongco. The current ratio does not necessarily reflect the profitability, market outlook, or debt financing of the companies. NEW QUESTION # 93

A married couple is opening a spousal RRSP account in the name of the wife. The dealing representative gathers the information required on the NAAF, including the wife's name, social insurance number, permanent address, and investment objectives. The representative also gathers KYC information for both and informs them that leveraging is not permitted with respect to RRSP accounts. Which information was not required?

- A. Wife's KYC information
- B. Disclaimer with respect to leveraging
- C. Husband's KYC information
- D. Wife's social insurance number

Answer: C

Explanation:

For a spousal RRSP, KYC information is required only for the account holder (the wife) and those with trading authority, not the contributing spouse (the husband), who has no financial interest in the account. The feedback from the document states: "The investment experience and knowledge of all individuals who have trading authority over the account should be obtained, as well as KYC information for anyone with a financial interest in the account. For spousal RRSPs, the contributing spouse does not have a financial interest in the account, so KYC information is required for the non-contributing spouse only." NEW QUESTION # 94

What amount of Canadian taxes would an investor with a 33% marginal tax rate pay on a $5,000 dividend payment from a foreign corporation?

- A. $1,241
- B. $825
- C. $1,650
- D. $0

Answer: C

Explanation:

Dividends from foreign corporations do not receive the gross-up and dividend tax credit treatment that applies to Canadian dividends. Instead, they are taxed as regular income at the investor's marginal rate.

- Foreign dividend received = $5,000
- Taxable as ordinary income at 33% marginal rate

$$$5,000 \times 33\% = $1,650$$

Therefore, the investor would pay $1,650 in Canadian taxes on this foreign dividend income.

NEW QUESTION # 95

Joanne's earned income last year was $45,000 and her pension adjustment was $2,500. She has $2,000 in carry-forward registered retirement savings plan (RRSP) room for the current taxation year. What is Joanne's maximum tax-deductible RRSP contribution amount for the current year?

- A. $12,600
- B. $7,600
- C. $8,100
- D. $5,600

Answer: B

Explanation:

Comprehensive and Detailed Explanation From Exact Extract:

The maximum tax-deductible RRSP contribution is calculated as 18% of the previous year's earned income, minus the pension adjustment, plus any carry-forward contribution room. In this case:

$$(18\% \times $45,000) = $8,100$$

$$$8,100 - $2,500 \text{ (pension adjustment)} + $2,000 \text{ (carry-forward)} = $7,600.$$

The feedback from the document confirms:

"Joanne's tax-deductible RRSP contribution room would be calculated as $(18\% \times $45,000) - $2,500 + $2,000 = $7,600$."
