CWNP Certified Wireless Analysis Professional Sample Questions (Q93-Q98):

NEW QUESTION # 93

To what data rates can a 5 GHz PHY device shift when changers occur in the signal strength?

- A. 11, 5.5, 2, 1
- B. 24, 18, 12, 5.5
- C. 24, 18, 12, 6
- D. 24, 18, 11, 2

Answer: C

NEW QUESTION # 94

What is the difference between a Data frame and a QoS-Data frame?

- A. QoS Data frames include a DSCP control field
- B. QoS Data frames include an 802.1Q VLAN tag
- C. QoS Data frames include a QoS control field
- D. QoS Data frames include a QoS information element

Answer: C

Explanation:

Explanation

The difference between a Data frame and a QoS-Data frame is that QoS Data frames include a QoS control field. A Data frame is a type of data frame that is used to carry user data or upper layer protocol data between STAs and APs. A QoS Data frame is a type of data frame that is used to carry user data or upper layer protocol data between STAs and APs that support QoS (Quality of Service) features. QoS features allow different types of traffic to be prioritized and handled differently according to their QoS requirements, such as delay, jitter, throughput, etc. QoS Data frames include a QoS control field in their MAC header, which contains information such as traffic identifier (TID), queue size (TXOP), acknowledgment policy (ACK), etc., that are used for QoS purposes. The other options are not correct, as they do not describe the difference between Data and QoS Data frames. QoS Data frames do not include a DSCP (Differentiated Services Code Point) control field, which is part of the IP header in the network layer, not the MAC header in the data link layer. QoS Data frames do not include a QoS information element (IE), which is part of some management frames that indicate QoS capabilities or parameters, not data frames. QoS Data frames do not include an 802.1Q VLAN tag, which is part of some Ethernet frames that indicate VLAN membership or priority, not wireless frames. NEW QUESTION # 95

The To DS bit is set to 0 and the From DS is set to 1.

What best describes this 802.11 frame?

- A. A frame being transmitted from an AP to a client STA
- B. A frame being transmitted from a client STA to an AP
- C. A frame being transmitted in a mesh BSS
- D. A frame being transmitted directly from one client STA to another

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION # 96

What is the function of 802.11 Management frames?

- A. Manage the BSS
- B. Manage the flow of data
- C. Communicate configuration changes between WLAN controller and APs
- D. Prioritize network administration traffic

Answer: A

Explanation:

Explanation

The function of 802.11 management frames is to manage the BSS. A BSS (Basic Service Set) is a group of STAs (stations) that share a common SSID (Service Set Identifier) and communicate with each other through an AP (access point) or directly in an ad hoc mode. Management frames are one of the three types of 802.11 frames, along with control and data frames. Management frames are used to establish, maintain, and terminate associations between STAs and APs, as well as to advertise and discover BSSs, exchange security information, report errors, and perform other management functions. The other options are not correct, as they are not functions of 802.11 management frames. Prioritizing network administration traffic, communicating configuration changes between WLAN controller and APs, and managing the flow of data are functions of other types of frames or protocols. NEW QUESTION # 97

A client is operating in an unstable RF environment. Out of five data frames transmitted to the client it only receives four. The client sends a Block Ack to acknowledge the receipt of these four frames but due to frame corruption the Block Ack is not received by the AP. Which frames will be transmitted?

- A. Only the data frame which was corrupted
- B. All data frames
- C. Only the Block Ack
- D. Both the corrupted data and Block Ack

Answer: B

Explanation:

All data frames will be retransmitted in this scenario. This is because the AP uses a Block Ack (BA) mechanism to acknowledge the receipt of multiple data frames from a client in a single frame. The BA contains a bitmap that indicates which data frames were received correctly and which were not. If the BA is not received by the AP due to frame corruption, the AP will assume that none of the data frames were received by the client and will retransmit all of them. The other options are not correct, as they do not account for the loss of the BA or the use of the bitmap.
