Scrum Professional Scrum with Kanban level I Sample Questions (Q44-Q49):

NEW QUESTION # 44

What is the best chart to determine when a single item that has not been started will be finished?
(choose the best answer)

- A. Cycle Time scatterplot.
- B. Cumulative Flow diagram (CFD).
- C. WIP Aging chart.
- D. Throughput run chart.

Answer: A

Explanation:

A Cycle Time scatterplot is the best chart to determine when a single item that has not been started will be finished. This chart shows the distribution of cycle times for completed work items. By analyzing the historical data, you can estimate the likely cycle time for a new item.

Here's how to use the Cycle Time scatterplot:

- * Identify the average cycle time: Calculate the average cycle time for similar types of work items.
 - * Consider variability: Look at the range of cycle times to understand the variability in delivery times.
 - * Estimate completion time: Based on the average cycle time and variability, estimate when the new item is likely to be completed.
- While the other charts (CFD, Throughput run chart, and WIP Aging chart) provide valuable insights into the overall workflow, they are not as effective for predicting the completion time of a single item.

NEW QUESTION # 45

Which of the following is NOT a Kanban for Scrum Teams practice?
(choose the best answer)

- A. Inspecting and adapting Workflow.
- B. Limiting WIP
- C. Identifying bottlenecks in your Workflow.
- D. Visualization of your Workflow.
- E. Active management of items in progress.

Answer: A

Explanation:

The Kanban Guide for Scrum Teams outlines four primary Kanban practices essential for Scrum Teams:

Visualization of the Workflow.

Limiting Work in Progress (WIP).

Active management of work items in progress.

Explicit policies for workflow management, often including the identification of bottlenecks.

Inspecting and adapting the workflow is not explicitly listed as a Kanban practice for Scrum Teams. While inspection and adaptation are fundamental to Scrum (due to its reliance on empiricism), they are not specific to the set of Kanban practices integrated into Scrum.

NEW QUESTION # 46

You still need a Scrum Master when applying Kanban practices in the Scrum framework.
(choose the best answer)

- A. It Depends.
- B. Always.
- C. Never.

Answer: B

Explanation:

You always need a Scrum Master when applying Kanban practices in the Scrum framework. The role of the Scrum Master remains crucial, even when Kanban practices are incorporated, as they are responsible for ensuring that the Scrum framework is followed, including all the new practices introduced by Kanban. The Scrum Master helps facilitate the team's understanding and use of flow-based metrics and practices while maintaining the integrity of Scrum events, roles, and artifacts.

NEW QUESTION # 47

What might a Scrum Team visualize with Kanban?
(choose the best three answers)

- A. The Sprint Backlog.
- B. The Sprint Retrospective.
- C. The Product Backlog.
- D. The Definition of Done.

Answer: A,C,D

Explanation:

When a Scrum Team uses Kanban, they can visualize:

*The Product Backlog: By making the Product Backlog visible, the team can track what work items are upcoming and prioritize them effectively.

*The Sprint Backlog: Visualizing the Sprint Backlog helps the team see the work planned for the current Sprint, track progress, and manage flow.

*The Definition of Done: Making the Definition of Done visible ensures that all team members and stakeholders understand the criteria that must be met for work to be considered complete
