ISQI ISTQB Foundation Level - Acceptance Testing Sample Questions (Q67-Q72):

NEW QUESTION # 67

Which of the following provides the BEST description of Beta testing?

- A. The effectiveness of beta testing sessions depends on the quality of the test charter
- B. Beta testing is generally performed jointly by testers, business analysts, product owners and developers
- C. In Agile, beta testing must be performed at the same time as user stories are developed
- D. Beta testing aims to obtain feedback from users in their context of use

Answer: D

Explanation:

Beta testing is a form of external user acceptance testing where real users test the product in their environment before the official release. It helps identify issues that may not have been caught in internal testing and gather user feedback on functionality, usability, and performance in real-world conditions.

Option C is correct - the core goal of beta testing is to obtain user feedback in their actual usage context, providing insight into how the system performs outside of controlled environments.

Other options:

A: Test charters are used in exploratory testing, not typically in beta testing.

B: Incorrect - beta testing is not tied to the timing of user story development in Agile.

D: Incorrect - beta testing is performed by end users, not by internal team members like developers or business analysts.

C). Beta testing aims to obtain feedback from users in their context of use

NEW QUESTION # 68

Which of the following statements regarding defects is MOST correct?

- A. The tester should analyze the potential impact of a defect on system usage, before communicating it to the business analyst.
- B. If the defect turns out to be a bug, the tester writes a defect report and sends it to the business analyst for further investigation.
- C. Testers should provide accurate information regarding the difference between the expected test result and the actual result.
- D. Regular meetings between business analysts and testers are necessary to report discrepancies between actual and expected outcome.

Answer: C

Explanation:

Defect reporting is a core responsibility of testers. When a test fails, the tester must document the observed behavior and how it differs from the expected behavior. This allows developers, analysts, and stakeholders to assess whether the issue is a defect, and if so, prioritize and fix it.

Option B is correct because it accurately describes the core responsibility of a tester when logging a defect: report the mismatch between actual and expected outcomes clearly and objectively.

Other options:

A refers to meetings, which are useful but not a replacement for clear defect reports.

C incorrectly assigns the role of defect routing to business analysts - this is typically handled by test or defect management tools.

D suggests the tester analyzes impact before reporting - which could delay the defect being logged and is not always the tester's role (impact analysis is often done collaboratively later).

B). Testers should provide accurate information regarding the difference between the expected test result and the actual result.

NEW QUESTION # 69

Assume you would like to create a model describing a loan request process in a bank.

The loan request process starts when the customer submits a loan application. The bank then reviews the application. Regardless of whether the loan request is approved or not, a letter is sent to inform the customer of the decision. If the request is approved, the loan contract is created.

You have drawn the following business process model using BPMN 2.0.

Which one of the following sentences is true with respect to this process model?

- A. Verifying employment is not done when the loan status is rejected.
- B. Performing title search and requesting credit report are sequential tasks.

- Answer: C

Which of the following activities is most likely performed by the business analyst as part of defect analysis?

- Answer: A

Which one of the following statements describes the relation between business goals, business needs and requirements BEST?

- Answer: B
