

Three Formats Of Latest CASM Exam Questions

CASM

CASM - answer Critical appraisal of systematic reviews/meta-analysis

1. Was there comprehensive and clearly described search for relevant studies? - answer - Did this search span the published and unpublished literature, or was it limited to published studies?
- What justification was offered for the decision to include/exclude unpublished studies?

2. Were clear and adequate criteria used to include and exclude studies from analysis? - answer I.e. did the authors decide to include or exclude studies conducted without blinding?

3. Were individual studies rated independently? - answer Did multiple ind. raters conduct the evaluation of ind. studies?

4. Were individual studies rated with blinding? - answer Was evaluation blinded (ie conceal author, publication date)?

5. Was inter rater agreement adequate? - answer degree of agreement among raters

6-10 - answer specific to the quantitative analysis of outcomes in a meta-analysis:

6. Was average effect size presented?
7. Were results weighed by sample size?
8. Was the confidence interval around the average effect size adequately precise?
9. Did a forest plot suggest reasonable homogeneity of findings across ind. studies?
10. If not, was a heterogeneity or moderate analysis conducted?

If systematic review, 6-10 are N/A

If confidence interval around mean effect size is very large or there is extensive variability - answer outcome of meta-analysis will be of limited utility

11. Were the results sufficiently relevant to my patient and practice? - answer
Regardless of how strong the external evidence from a meta-analysis or systematic review may be, it must still be integrated with evidence concerning the characteristics and preferences of a particular patient before a decision about changing current clinical practice is made

Peoplecert Certified Agile Service Manager V2.1 Sample Questions (Q16-Q21):

NEW QUESTION # 16

What is a value stream?

- A. All the activities from a customer request to a delivered product or service
- B. A set of activities that flow from the start of development to software deployment
- C. Enables the ability to do something when and how it is needed or desired
- D. The importance, worth, or usefulness of an IT service

Answer: A

Explanation:

A value stream is a series of steps or activities that an organization undertakes to deliver value to a customer, starting from the initial request to the final delivery of a product or service. It represents the end-to-end flow of value and includes all tasks necessary for the creation and delivery of the product or service, regardless of whether they are performed by development teams, operations, or other departments.

Option Analysis:

A . Incorrect. While agility involves doing something as and when needed, this doesn't define a value stream.

B . Partially correct but too narrow. A value stream encompasses more than just development and deployment; it includes all activities related to delivering customer value.

C . Correct. This encapsulates the end-to-end activities from customer request to delivery, which aligns with the value stream concept in Lean and Agile practices.

D . Incorrect. This defines "value" in IT services, not the concept of a value stream.

ITIL 4: Managing Professional - High-Velocity IT, which includes value streams as part of ITSM evolution.

NEW QUESTION # 17

An organization's CIO believes they will better serve customers if they become more Agile. How can an organization become more Agile?

- A. Put strict control on changes and only allow them early in development
- B. Be more collaborative
- C. Shift IT's main focus to software development
- D. Both A and C

Answer: B

Explanation:

Becoming more Agile requires fostering collaboration, flexibility, and customer focus. Let's evaluate the options:

A . Incorrect. While IT plays a crucial role in Agile transformation, solely focusing on software development doesn't address Agile principles like collaboration, iterative value delivery, and responsiveness to change.

B . Incorrect. Strict control over changes contradicts Agile principles, which encourage adaptability and welcoming change throughout development.

C . Correct. Collaboration is a core value in Agile, emphasizing interactions among teams, customers, and stakeholders to deliver value effectively.

D . Incorrect. While collaboration is correct, pairing it with a narrow IT focus (option A) doesn't reflect a holistic Agile transformation.

Reference:

Agile Manifesto (Individual and interactions over processes and tools).

Principles of Agile Transformation: Collaboration and adaptability are key.

NEW QUESTION # 18

Who makes the decision to release an Increment?

- A. Both A and B
- B. The Team
- C. The Agile Practice Owner
- D. The Agile Service Manager

Answer: C

Explanation:

In Scrum and Agile practices, the decision to release an increment typically lies with the Product Owner (or Agile Practice Owner in service contexts) because they are responsible for maximizing the value of the product and ensuring alignment with business needs.

A . Incorrect. While the team delivers the increment, the release decision is outside their authority.

B . Correct. The Agile Practice Owner is accountable for ensuring that a release aligns with business goals and customer needs.

C . Incorrect. The Agile Service Manager focuses on process facilitation, not increment releases.

D . Incorrect. The team supports increment development, but the release decision remains with the Agile Practice Owner.

NEW QUESTION # 19

Which of the following is NOT a microprocess characteristic?

- A. Supports one process
- B. Each activity delivers its own value
- C. Provides for small, frequent releases
- D. Outputs may be inputs to multiple practices

Answer: C

Explanation:

Microprocesses are small, independent activities within a broader process, focused on efficiency and adaptability. Let's evaluate the options:

A . Incorrect. While small, frequent releases are characteristic of Agile principles, this is not a specific characteristic of microprocesses. Microprocesses focus on modularity and adaptability rather than release strategies.

B . Correct. Outputs from microprocesses can feed into multiple practices, demonstrating their flexibility and reusability.

C . Correct. Each microprocess adds incremental value, aligning with Agile's iterative approach.

D . Correct. Microprocesses are often tailored to support specific processes or practices.

Reference:

Agile Process Improvement: Microprocess design principles.

ITIL 4: Process modularity and adaptability.

NEW QUESTION # 20

At which event does the Team typically discuss their velocity and capacity?

- A. Sprint Retrospective
- B. Process Startup
- C. Sprint Review
- D. Practice Planning

Answer: D

Explanation:

The Practice Planning (or Sprint Planning in Scrum) event involves evaluating the team's velocity (historical delivery rate) and capacity (available resources) to determine what work can be committed to during the upcoming iteration.

A . Incorrect. The Sprint Review focuses on inspecting the increment and updating the backlog, not discussing velocity or capacity.

B . Incorrect. The Sprint Retrospective evaluates team performance but does not plan future work.

C . Correct. Velocity and capacity discussions occur during Practice/Sprint Planning to ensure realistic commitments.

D . Incorrect. The Process Startup (Daily Scrum equivalent) is a short status meeting and does not focus on capacity or velocity.

Reference:
Scrum Guide 2020: Sprint Planning.
