NEW QUESTION # 179
HOTSPOT
You have a Microsoft 365 E5 subscription.
From Azure AD Identity Protection on August 1, you configure a Multifactor authentication registration policy that has the following settings:
Assignments: All users
Controls: Require Azure AD multifactor authentication registration
Enforce Policy: On
On August 3, you create two users named User1 and User2.
Users authenticate by using Azure Multi-Factor Authentication (MFA) for the first time on the dates shown in the following table.

User	Date
User1	August 5
User2	August 7

Answer:

Explanation:

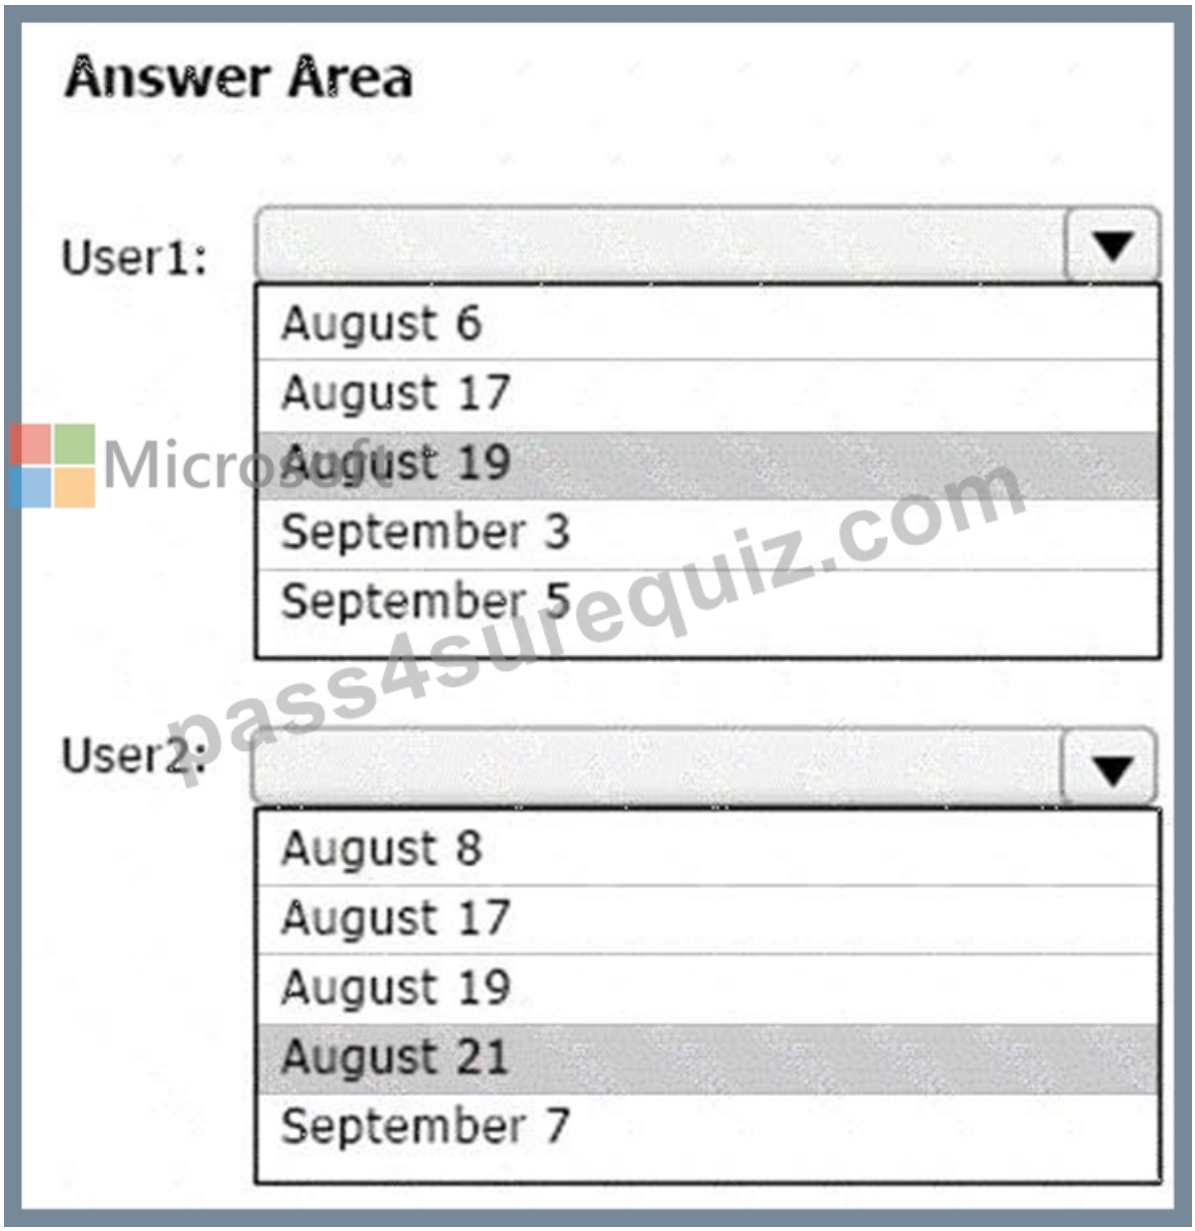
Explanation



Box 1: August 19
Note: Security defaults will trigger a 14 day grace period for registration after a user's first login and security defaults being enabled. After 14 days users will be required to register for MFA and will not be able to skip.
Conditional Access by itself without Azure Identity Protection does not allow for the 14 day grace period.
Identity Protection includes the registration policy that allows registration on its own with no apps assigned to the policy. If a Conditional Access policy requires Multi-Factor Authentication, then the user must be able to pass that MFA request.
Box 2: August 21
