CompTIA A+ Certification Exam: Core 2 Sample Questions (Q517-Q522):

NEW QUESTION # 517

A technician is installing new software on a macOS computer. Which of the following file types will the technician MOST likely use?

- A. .vbs
- B. .exe
- C. .app
- D. .deb

Answer: C

Explanation:

The file type that the technician will MOST likely use when installing new software on a macOS computer is .app. This is because .app is the file extension for applications on macOS.

NEW QUESTION # 518

A user is unable to log in to the domain with a desktop PC, but a laptop PC is working properly on the same network. A technician logs in to the desktop PC with a local account but is unable to browse to the secure intranet site to get troubleshooting tools. Which of the following is the MOST likely cause of the issue?

- A. Dual in-line memory module failure
- B. Application crash
- C. Filesystem errors
- D. Time drift

Answer: D

Explanation:

The most likely cause of the issue is a "time drift". Time drift occurs when the clock on a computer is not synchronized with the clock on the domain controller. This can cause authentication problems when a user tries to log in to the domain. The fact that the technician is unable to browse to the secure intranet site to get troubleshooting tools suggests that there may be a problem with the network connection or the firewall settings on the desktop PC.

NEW QUESTION # 519

A technician needs to recommend a way to keep company devices for field and home-based staff up to date. The users live in various places across the country and the company has several national offices that staff can go to for technical support. Which of the following methods is most appropriate for the users?

- A. Push updates out via VPN on a weekly basis in a staggered manner so that the network is not affected.
- B. Make office attendance mandatory for one day per week so that updates can be installed.
- C. Configure cloud-based endpoint management software to automatically manage computer updates.
- D. Ask users to ensure that they run updates on devices and reboot computers on a regular basis.

Answer: C

Explanation:

For a company with geographically dispersed staff and the need to keep devices updated, using cloud-based endpoint management software is the most efficient method. This type of software allows IT administrators to remotely manage and push updates to company devices, regardless of their location. It ensures that all devices remain up to date with the latest security patches and software updates without requiring physical access or user intervention. This approach is scalable, reduces the risk of unpatched vulnerabilities, and is convenient for both the IT department and the end-users.

NEW QUESTION # 520

A technician is editing the hosts file on a few PCs in order to block certain domains. Which of the following would the technician need to execute after editing the hosts file?

- A. Clear the browser cache.
- B. Add a new network adapter.
- C. Enable promiscuous mode.
- D. Reset the network adapter.

Answer: D

Explanation:

Explanation

Resetting the network adapter is the best way to apply the changes made to the hosts file on a few PCs. The hosts file is a text file that maps hostnames to IP addresses and can be used to block certain domains by redirecting them to invalid or local addresses. Resetting the network adapter will clear the DNS cache and force the PC to use the new entries in the hosts file.

NEW QUESTION # 521

Which of the following system preference items allows a user to enable third-party application installations on macOS 11?

- A. Keychain
- B. Privacy
- C. Spotlight
- D. Accessibility

Answer: B

Explanation:

In macOS, the "Privacy" settings under "Security & Privacy" are where users can control which applications are allowed to run, including third-party apps. By default, macOS may restrict apps that are not downloaded from the App Store, but in the Privacy settings, users can enable installations from identified developers or even from any source. The other options like "Keychain" manage passwords and certificates, "Accessibility" deals with assistive technologies, and "Spotlight" is the search feature.
