Adobe Experience Manager Architect Master Sample Questions (Q16-Q21):

NEW QUESTION # 16

A client is modernizing some of their AEM sites to go from static to editable templates so they can use the latest features around has the following parameters:

- * The client currently has a dozen static templates that they want to move to editable templates.
- * The existing pages use the parsys paragraph system for storing components.
- * Each page based on one of the static templates has its own custom properties tab that is unique for that template type.
- * The client wants template authors to be able to create the editable templates.

Which approach should an Architect use to meet these requirements?

- A. 1. Use a new page component for editable templates based on the core components page component
2. Convert page properties to policies
- B. 1. Use a new page component for editable templates based on the core components page component
2. Migrate page properties to respective components dialogues
- C. 1. Use the same page components for editable templates
2. Use a new template type for each static template
- D. 1. Use the same page components for editable templates
2. Create a new editable template based on each of the existing page components

Answer: B

Explanation:

Use a new page component for editable templates based on the core components page component and migrate page properties to respective components dialogues<sup>1,2</sup>. According to Adobe Experience Manager documentation<sup>1</sup>, static templates are not considered a best practice and editable templates should be used instead. AEM Modernization tools can help migrate from static to editable templates. Editable templates use core components as their base components<sup>2</sup> and page properties can be migrated to component dialogues using content policies<sup>2</sup>.

NEW QUESTION # 17

An AEMaaCS customer wants to have a sub section in site to accept data from an end user, which may be text as well as documents. The site is expected to have high data input which would need moderation and masking before making it live for public access. Due to a legal content policy, the data collected through the site cannot be shared outside the organization. What would an architect recommend?

- A. Utilize data storage/APIs outside of AEMaaCS
- B. Utilize Reverse Replication through publish servers
- C. Utilize backward Sling Content Distribution from publish server
- D. Utilize AEM communities with MSRP topology

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION # 18

A client recently purchased the Smart Content Service and is considering using the Enhanced Smart Tagging feature. As part of the process, the client recently created a new tagging taxonomy that has not been applied to any assets yet. An Architect needs to demonstrate the feature on a subset of the client's assets before using on all assets.

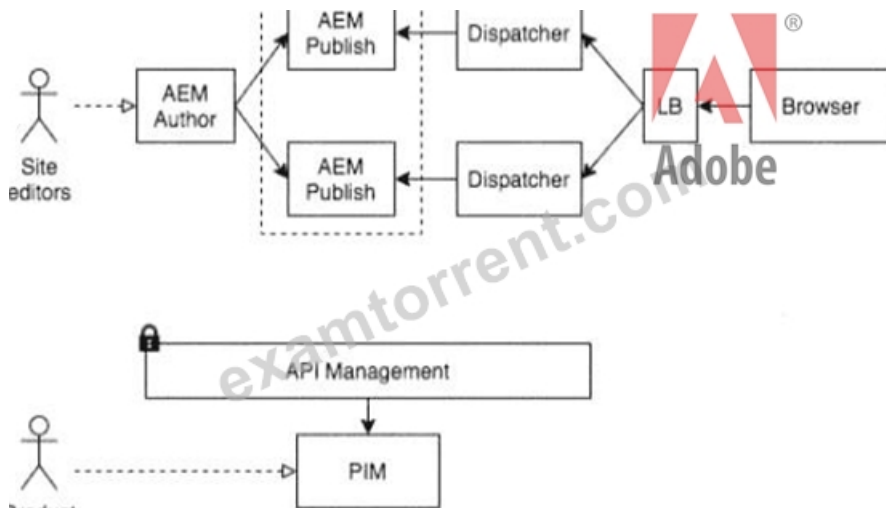

How should the Architect proceed?

- A. Enable Smart Tagging via the folder properties for a single folder of assets
- B. Add sample assets to a new folder, tag assets in folder, then run the Smart Tags Training workflow
- C. Enable Smart Tagging via the folder properties for a single folder of assets, then run the Smart Tags Training workflow
- D. Add sample assets to a new folder, tag assets in folder, then enable Smart Tagging via the folder properties

Answer: C

NEW QUESTION # 19

Refer to the exhibit.

A customer with an existing AEM implementation wants to enrich product pages with technical data coming from their PIM system. The PIM system sits behind an API Management solution that publicly exposes the PIM API's as RESTful web services with basic authentication as the security mechanism. Data consistency with the PIM and secure access to the APIs are key elements of the integration.

How should the Architect set up the integration between AEM and the PIM?

- A. Use a client-side integration with AJAX from the browser to the API Management
- B. Convert the technical data to Content Fragments and expose using Content Services
- C. Integrate the AEM Publishers directly with the API Management solution
- D. Import the technical data into the AEM Author and replicate to Publishers

Answer: C

Explanation:

Integrate the AEM Publishers directly with the API Management solution. According to Adobe Experience Manager documentation<sup>1</sup>, a direct integration between AEM and PIM can enable marketers and creative professionals to manage eCommerce-related product data and photography within AEM. A direct integration can also ensure data consistency with the PIM and secure access to the APIs using basic authentication<sup>23</sup>.

Option A is the only diagram that shows how AEM Publishers can directly communicate with the API Management solution.

NEW QUESTION # 20

A customer wants to simplify and automate publishing press pages and defines the following flows:

What should the Architect recommend?

- A. Implement a Sling event listener that triggers on page creation
- B. Create a custom workflow
- C. Advise the customer to use Launches
- D. Configure MSM with the "Activate on Blueprint activation" option

Answer: C

Explanation:

Advise the customer to use Launches . According to Adobe Experience Manager documentation<sup>1</sup>, launches in AEM Sites provide a way to create, author, and review web site content for future release. Launches can also be synchronized with the production web site and activated at a scheduled time<sup>1</sup>
