Adobe Commerce Developer Expert Sample Questions (Q24-Q29):

NEW QUESTION # 24

While implementing additional functionality, a Developer needs to modify a class with protected and private methods requiring custom logic. The Developer finds that no other Magento customization, such as plugins, will work. What should the Developer do in this scenario?

- A. Use an observer to customize data processed by the class.
- B. Use a preference and extend the original class.
- C. Use a patch to implement the necessary customizations.

Answer: B

Explanation:

If methods are protected or private, plugins cannot be used because they only work with public methods. In this case, the developer should use a class preference to replace the original class with a custom class that extends it.

A (preference) is correct.

B (observer) cannot be used because observers only react to events, not protected/private methods.

C (patch) is not a customization mechanism; data/patches are used for database schema or data updates.

NEW QUESTION # 25

A client requests changes to their Pro Staging and Production environments. They supply a Developer with different domains for new websites to be created with the goal of expanding operations to multiple countries, doubling the current number of SKUs, and adding more customer groups.

Which two issues should the Developer anticipate based on the requested changes? (Choose two.)

- A. Recreate hierarchy navigation for every new website.
- B. Additional stores can lead to a longer indexing process and slower response times for noncached catalog pages.

- C. Multiple websites may require duplicating custom functionality for each store, which increases code redundancy.
- D. Catalog data expands as the number of websites and stores are increased.

Answer: B,D

Explanation:

When new websites and stores are added in Adobe Commerce:

The catalog data expands because product, price, inventory, and configuration data must be stored per website/store (B).

Indexing becomes more complex as indexers must recalculate data per website/store, which can increase indexing times and slow down noncached catalog pages (C).

A is incorrect because navigation hierarchy is managed via categories, not recreated per website automatically.

D is incorrect because Magento code is shared across stores; functionality is not duplicated per store.

NEW QUESTION # 26

A customer wants to create a set of CMS blocks to be used on their website but does not wish to create these manually. An Adobe Commerce Developer is tasked to install the CMS blocks programmatically.

How should the Developer achieve this?

- A. Implement the SchemaSetupInterface, then use the block repository in the apply() function to create the blocks.
- B. Implement the InstallSchemaInterface, then use the block repository in the execute() function to create the blocks.
- C. Implement the DataPatchInterface, then use the block repository in the apply() function to create the blocks.

Answer: C

NEW QUESTION # 27

A client is setting up an Adobe Commerce B2B store and wants to start offering a Payment on Account option for their customers when placing orders.

How should the Developer achieve this?

- A. Install and activate the native Adobe Commerce module which activates payment.
- B. Repurpose the native Cash on Delivery method.
- C. Create and implement a new Payment Method to provide credit accounts to customers.

Answer: A

Explanation:

Adobe Commerce B2B includes a native "Payment on Account" module, which is part of the B2B suite. This module allows customers with company accounts to place orders on account (credit).

A (repurpose COD) is a hack and not recommended.

C (create new payment method) is unnecessary since Adobe Commerce already includes this B2B feature.

B is correct: simply enable the native B2B Payment on Account module.

NEW QUESTION # 28

An Adobe Commerce Developer is approached to disable several cron jobs from a customization completed by a third-party agency. The cron jobs will eventually be enabled again once a code review of the cron jobs is complete.

Using best principles, how should the Developer action this request?

- A. Add the schedule="* * * * *" to the <job> node in the crontab.xml file.
- B. Edit the schedule with a date which will never happen in the crontab.xml file.
- C. Add the disabled="true" to the <job> node in the crontab.xml file.

Answer: C

Explanation:

Adobe Commerce provides a configuration flag `disabled="true"` for cron job definitions in `crontab.xml`.

When set, it prevents the job from being executed, while still keeping the job definition in place. This allows developers to temporarily disable cron jobs without deleting or altering their schedules - a best practice in scenarios where the jobs will later be re-enabled.

* Option A (`schedule="* * * * *`) would instead run the cron job every minute, which is the opposite of disabling it.

* Option B (setting an impossible date) is a hack and not recommended, as it introduces fragile configuration that can confuse future maintainers.

* Option C is the official and proper way to disable a cron job in Adobe Commerce.

Official Documentation Extracts:

* "To disable a job, add the attribute `disabled="true"` to the `<job>` node in `crontab.xml`." - Adobe Commerce DevDocs: Configure cron jobs

* "You can disable a cron job without removing its definition by setting `disabled="true"`. This is useful for temporary maintenance or debugging." - Adobe Commerce PHP Developer Guide: Cron configuration
