- A. Suspension Criteria
- B. Entry Criteria
- C. Exit Criteria
- D. Software Testing Lifecycle

Answer: C

NEW QUESTION # 84

Seth wants to get an approximate picture of the likelihood of the risks that were identified by his organization.

After getting a high-level understanding of their probability, he could dedicate his resources to risk mitigation according to the priorities since he was a bit under-staffed. He was told that out of the identified risks, the occurrence of an earthquake was highly unlikely owing to the geography of their location. Furthermore, he learned that the chances of a fire breaking out in his building were high and his facility also faced a risk of physical intrusion but that was partly under control owing to the physical guards. What kind of risk assessment is Seth essentially conducting?

- A. Quantitative Risk Assessment
- B. Qualitative Risk Assessment
- C. Semi-Quantitative Risk Assessment
- D. Semi-Quantitative Risk Assessment

Answer: B

Explanation:

Qualitative Risk Assessment evaluates risks based on subjective likelihood (e.g., "high," "low") and impact, without precise numerical values, fitting Seth's high-level probability approach.

* Option A (Quantitative): Uses numerical data (e.g., percentages), not applicable here.

* Option C (Semi-Quantitative): A hybrid, but Seth's method is fully qualitative.

* Option D (Semi-Quantitative): Combines numbers with qualitative, not evident here.
