CompTIA Cloud+ Certification Exam Sample Questions (Q347-Q352):

NEW QUESTION # 347

A critical new security update has been released to fix an identified zero-day vulnerability with the SSH server process. Due to its severity, all development and staging servers must have this update applied immediately. Which of the following is the FASTEST way for the administrator to apply the patch and ensure all systems are configured consistently?

- A. Shut down all servers and use the server provisioning tools to deploy new ones that have the latest patch applied.
- B. Update the set of configuration management scripts to include the latest patch. Execute these scripts against a master inventory of servers.
- C. Use the existing tooling to clone the existing servers. Update each clone with the latest patch and shut down the original system.
- D. Create a master inventory list of servers that must be patched. Log in to each server and deploy the patch, making sure to check off each server on the list.

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 348

A systems administrator is configuring RAID for a new server. This server will host files for users and replicate to an identical server. While redundancy is necessary, the most important need is to maximize storage.

Which of the following RAID types should the administrator choose?

- A. 0
- B. 1
- C. 2
- D. 3

Answer: C

NEW QUESTION # 349

The CASB report indicates several unsanctioned SaaS applications are being used in an organization.

Which of the following is the MOST likely cause?

- A. CAB approval
- B. Shadow IT
- C. VPN bypass
- D. Web proxy bypass

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 350

A cloud administrator configured a local cloud-resource pool to offer 64GB of memory, 64 cores, and 640GB of storage. Thirty-two machines with identical resource allocations are started, but one machine is unable to handle requests. Which of the following is the MOST likely cause?

- A. A storage error on the guest
- B. Inadequate memory allocation
- C. Overwhelmed vCPU
- D. Incorrect VLAN assignment
- E. Insufficient guest bandwidth

Answer: C

Explanation:

The most likely cause of one machine being unable to handle requests after deploying a new three-host cluster with identical resource allocations is that it has an overwhelmed vCPU (virtual CPU). An overwhelmed vCPU means that there is more demand for CPU resources than what is available on the host or VM. This could result in poor performance, high latency, or errors for the applications or processes that run on that machine.

The systems administrator should monitor the CPU utilization and load on each machine and adjust them accordingly to balance the workload. Reference: [CompTIA Cloud+ Certification Exam Objectives], Domain

4.0 Troubleshooting, Objective 4.3 Given a scenario, troubleshoot capacity issues within a cloud environment.

NEW QUESTION # 351

A systems administrator needs to implement a way for users to verify software integrity. Which of the following tools would BEST meet the administrator's needs?

- A. TLS 1.3
- B. AES-256
- C. SHA-512
- D. CRC32

Answer: C

Explanation:

SHA-512 is a tool that can generate a cryptographic hash value for any given data. A cryptographic hash value is a fixed-length string of bits that uniquely and irreversibly represents the data. SHA-512 is one of the variants of the Secure Hash Algorithm 2 (SHA-2) family, which is a widely used and standardized hash function.

SHA-512 can help users to verify software integrity by comparing the hash values of the software before and after downloading, installing, or transferring. If the hash values match, it means that the software has not been altered, corrupted, or tampered with. If the hash values differ, it means that the software may have been compromised, infected, or damaged.
