USGBC LEED Green Associate Exam Sample Questions (Q316-Q321):

NEW QUESTION # 316

What is the first step in the LEED certification process?

- A. Develop design documents
- B. Select the rating system
- C. Submit documentation
- D. Hold a charrette

Answer: B

Explanation:

According to the LeadingGreen Study Guide:

"The first step in the certification process is the Project Registration. Projects can be registered on the GBCI website (www.gbci.org)... Before registration, the process begins with selecting the appropriate rating system using the 40/60 rule..." Thus, selecting the correct rating system is the initial key step before registration and documentation submission. The selection ensures alignment with the project type and its characteristics.

NEW QUESTION # 317

What is the current standard LEED uses to determine the baseline for indoor water savings?

- A. Energy Policy Act (EPACT) of 1992, 2005
- B. ANSI 17024
- C. The local standard in which the project is located
- D. The Energy Savings and Industrial Competitiveness Act of 2013

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION # 318

LEED stands for

- A. Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design
- B. Leadership in Eco and Energy Design
- C. Leadership in Environmental and Efficiency Design
- D. Leadership in Efficiency and Energy Design

Answer: A

Explanation:

Explanation

LEED is an acronym for Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design, which is the most widely used green building rating system in the world. LEED provides a framework for creating healthy, efficient, and cost-saving buildings that have positive environmental and social impacts. LEED certification is a globally recognized symbol of sustainability achievement and leadership<sup>12</sup>.

NEW QUESTION # 319

Which of the following strategies encourages a building's users to use alternative transportation?

- A. Provide bicycle storage and shower facilities
- B. Provide preferred parking for business owners
- C. Locate building in a rural area

- D. Locate building near restaurants and theaters

Answer: A

Explanation:

One of the goals of the LEED rating system is to reduce greenhouse gas emissions from transportation by encouraging alternative modes of transportation that are less dependent on fossil fuels. Providing bicycle storage and shower facilities is a strategy that encourages a building's users to use bicycles as a means of transportation, which can reduce vehicle miles traveled, fuel consumption, air pollution, traffic congestion, and parking demand. This strategy can also promote physical activity and health benefits for the users. References: LEED v4 Green Associate Candidate Handbook, LEED v4 BD+C Reference Guide

NEW QUESTION # 320

Who completes and signs the credit templates for a project pursuing LEED certification?

- A. The Commissioning (Cx) agent
- B. The certified LEED Reviewer
- C. The specified team member
- D. The local authorities having jurisdiction

Answer: C

Explanation:

The credit templates are the online forms that document the achievement of the LEED credits for a project pursuing LEED certification. The credit templates are completed and signed by the specified team member who is responsible for the credit, such as the architect, engineer, contractor, or owner. The team member must provide the required information, calculations, narratives, and supporting documentation for each credit<sup>13</sup>.
