Prior to this deployment, a package was deployed with all the custom fields used in the dataflow and dataset. While running the recipe/dataflow in the target environment, the consultant encounters multiple errors related to these custom fields. How should this be resolved?

- A. Check whether the Analytics Integration user has been provided access to these custom fields on the target org.
- B. Check whether the system administrator has been provided access to these custom fields on the target org.
- C. Check whether the consultant has been provided access to these custom fields on the target org.

NEW QUESTION # 81

A consultant is building a CRM Analytics dashboard for Universal Containers. The consultant has enabled data sync to increase the speed of datasets refreshing. How often will the data on the dashboard be refreshed?

- A. When dataflow/recipe runs to completion, and then data sync runs to completion
- B. When data sync runs to completion, and then dataflow/recipe runs to completion
- C. When the dashboard viewer clicks the Refresh button

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 82

A team of CRM Analytics developers has been working on an existing recipe to add new derived fields. The edited version has been failing ever since, and management is requesting that the dashboard show refreshed data while they work on the edits. How can the developers add new fields while keeping the dataset refreshed?

- A. A recipe for the new fields and when that is successful, add it to the existing recipe as a join node.
- B. Clone the existing recipe to add fields and roll back the original recipe to the last working version.
- C. Refresh the dataset after working hours to avoid the edited version from failing.

Answer: B

Explanation:

When faced with the need to continue refreshing data while developing new features in a recipe, the best practice is: Clone the Existing Recipe: By cloning the recipe, developers can experiment with adding new fields and transformations without affecting the production data flow. This allows for testing and development in a sandbox-like environment. Roll Back to a Stable Version: Rolling back the original recipe to the last stable version ensures that the production dashboards continue to receive refreshed data, maintaining business operations without disruption.

This approach not only ensures data continuity but also provides a safe environment to address any issues that may arise from new developments.
