VMware NSX 4.X Professional V2 Sample Questions (Q36-Q41):

NEW QUESTION # 36
An administrator wants to validate the BGP connection status between the Tier-0 Gateway and the upstream physical router. What sequence of commands could be used to check this status on NSX Edge node?

- A. - set vrf <ID>
  - show logical-routers
  - show <LR-D> bgp
- B. - enable <LR-D>
  - get vrf <ID>
  - show bgp neighbor
- C. - show logical-routers
  - get vrf
  - show ip route bgp
- D. - get gateways
  - vrf <number>
  - get bgp neighbor

Answer: B

Explanation:
To validate the BGP connection status between the Tier-0 Gateway and the upstream physical router on an NSX Edge node, the correct sequence involves enabling the specific logical router (Tier-0 Gateway), checking the VRF (Virtual Routing and Forwarding) context, and then using the show bgp neighbor command to view the BGP session status.
enable <LR-D>: This command enables the logical router interface (Tier-0 Gateway) to access its configuration.
get vrf <ID>: This command checks the specific VRF (used for routing separation) to see the associated routing table.
show bgp neighbor: This command displays the status of the BGP connection, including details about the neighbor relationships and their state.

NEW QUESTION # 37
Which VPN type must be configured before enabling a L2VPN?

- A. Policy based IPSec VPN
- B. SSL-bosed IPSec VPN
- C. Route-based IPSec VPN
- D. Port-based IPSec VPN

Answer: C

Explanation:
According to the VMware NSX Documentation, this VPN type must be configured before enabling a L2VPN. L2VPN stands for Layer 2 VPN and is a feature that allows you to extend your layer 2 network across different sites using an IPSec tunnel. Route-based IPSec VPN is a VPN type that uses logical router ports to establish IPSec tunnels between sites.

Which CLI command does an NSX administrator run on the NSX Manager to generate support bundle logs if the NSX UI is inaccessible?

- A. esxcli system syslog config logger set --id=nsxmanager
- B. get support-bundle file vcpnv.tgz
- C. set support-bundle file vcpnv.tgz
- D. vm-support

Answer: B

Explanation:
When the NSX UI is inaccessible, an NSX administrator can use the get support-bundle file vcpnv.tgz command in the CLI on the NSX Manager to generate a support bundle. This command creates a compressed file (vcpnv.tgz) containing logs and diagnostic information needed for troubleshooting.

NEW QUESTION # 39
What can the administrator use to identify overlay segments in an NSX environment if troubleshooting is required?

- A. Geneve ID
- B. Segment ID
- C. VIAN ID
- D. VNI ID

Answer: D

Explanation:
According to the VMware NSX Documentation1, a segment is mapped to a unique Geneve segment that is distributed across the ESXi hosts in a transport zone. The Geneve segment uses a virtual network identifier (VNI) as an overlay network identifier. The VNI ID can be used to identify overlay segments in an NSX environment if troubleshooting is required.
