NEW QUESTION # 191

Which MDM configuration provides scalability?

- A. automatic device classification with level 7 fingerprinting
- B. pushing WPA2-Enterprise settings automatically to devices
- C. enabling use of device features such as camera use
- D. BYOD support without extra appliance or licenses

Answer: D

Explanation:

Mobile device management (MDM) is a solution that allows organizations to manage and secure mobile devices such as smartphones and tablets. MDM can provide scalability by supporting BYOD (bring your own device) scenarios without requiring extra appliance or licenses. BYOD allows employees to use their personal devices for work purposes, which can reduce costs and increase productivity. However, BYOD also introduces security and compliance risks, which MDM can mitigate by enforcing policies, monitoring device status, and performing remote actions. MDM can also integrate with other Cisco security solutions such as Identity Services Engine (ISE) and Umbrella to provide additional protection and visibility. According to the Cisco SCOR course, MDM can provide the following benefits for BYOD<sup>1</sup>:

- * Simplify device enrollment and configuration
- * Automate device compliance checks and remediation
- * Apply granular policies based on device type, user role, location, and network
- * Enable secure access to corporate resources and applications
- * Protect data at rest and in transit with encryption and VPN
- * Detect and respond to device threats and vulnerabilities
- * Wipe or lock devices in case of loss or theft
