NEW QUESTION # 13

Pesticide labels often specify the type of respirator to be used by its TC designation. Which of the following is the chemical cartridge respirator designation?

- A. TC-84
- B. TC-23
- C. TC-19

Answer: B

Explanation:

The TC designation is assigned by the National Institute for Occupational Safety and Health (NIOSH) to classify respirators. TC-23 designates chemical cartridge respirators, which are used to protect against specific gases and vapors, as specified on pesticide labels for Category 7A applications. The General Pest Management: Guide for Commercial Applicators - Category 7A (Chapter 3: Pesticide Safety) notes that TC-23 respirators are commonly required for pesticide applications involving volatile chemicals. Option A (TC-84) refers to particulate respirators (e.g., N95 masks). Option C (TC-19) is not a valid designation for pesticide use.

NEW QUESTION # 14

Which of the following identifying characteristics is true for ants?

- A. Elbowed antennae
- B. No waist in the body
- C. Wings of equal length

Answer: A

Explanation:

Ants are identified by their elbowed antennae, which bend at an angle, and a narrow, pinched waist.

The General Pest Management: Guide for Commercial Applicators - Category 7A (Chapter 7: Ants) lists this as a key characteristic. Option B (wings of equal length) applies to termites, not ants (ant wings are unequal in length). Option C (no waist) also describes termites, not ants.

NEW QUESTION # 15

Bedbugs go through:

- A. Gradual metamorphosis (nymphs similar to adult stage)
- B. Just two stages (egg and adult)
- C. Four distinct stages of development (egg, larva, pupa, and adult)

Answer: A

Explanation:

Bedbugs undergo gradual metamorphosis, also known as incomplete metamorphosis, which includes three stages: egg, nymph, and adult. Nymphs resemble smaller versions of adults and go through several molts before reaching maturity. The General Pest Management: Guide for Commercial Applicators - Category 7A (Chapter 7: Bedbugs) confirms this life cycle. Option A (four stages: egg, larva, pupa, adult) describes complete metamorphosis, typical of insects like beetles, not bedbugs. Option C (two stages) is incorrect, as nymph stages are a critical part of bedbug development.

NEW QUESTION # 16

In an Integrated Pest Management program at a school:

- A. The superintendent of schools performs all liaison work
- B. Onsite supervisory personnel are required
- C. The commercial pesticide applicator is required to inform students and personnel of pesticide applications

Answer: C

Explanation:

Under the New Jersey School IPM Act (N.J.A.C. 7:30-13), commercial pesticide applicators in schools (Category 7A and 13) are required to inform students and personnel of pesticide applications, including providing advance notice and posting signs. This ensures safety and compliance with school IPM regulations. Option B (onsite supervisory personnel) is not a specific requirement for school applications. Option C (superintendent as liaison) is incorrect; the applicator or IPM coordinator typically handles notifications.

NEW QUESTION # 17

Which is the correct choice for the following application situation using TEMPRID?

For an outdoor application for ticks, the:

- A. Suggested rate of application is 0.54 fluid ozs. per 1000 sq. ft.
- B. 7A category does not cover treatment for ticks outdoors; you would need a 7B category certification
- C. Suggested rate of application is 0.075% per 1000 sq. ft.

Answer: A

Explanation:

TEMPRID SC (a common pesticide for Category 7A) is labeled for outdoor tick control. The label specifies a rate of 0.54 fl. oz. per 1000 sq. ft. for outdoor perimeter applications, which aligns with the General Pest Management: Guide for Commercial Applicators - Category 7A (Chapter 5: Pesticide Application) for tick control. Option A is incorrect because Category 7A does cover outdoor tick treatments adjacent to structures (see Question 63). Option B (0.075% per 1000 sq. ft.) refers to a concentration rate for indoor applications, not the volume rate for outdoor use.
