The CISM exam covers four domains, including information security governance, risk management, information security program development and management, and information security incident management. CISM exam is designed to test the candidate's knowledge of these domains and their ability to apply that knowledge in real-world situations. Candidates who pass the exam will demonstrate their ability to identify and manage security risks, develop and implement security policies and procedures, and respond to security incidents effectively. The CISM certification is widely recognized by employers and is considered a valuable credential for information security professionals who wish to advance their careers.

The Certified Information Security Manager (CISM) certification is a globally recognized credential for information security managers who are responsible for developing and managing information security programs. The CISM Certification is offered by the Information Systems Audit and Control Association (ISACA), a global association of information security, assurance, governance, and risk professionals.

The benefits of obtaining the CISM certification are numerous. It demonstrates to employers and clients that the individual has the necessary skills and knowledge to manage and oversee information security programs effectively. It also provides a competitive advantage in the job market, as many organizations prefer to hire certified professionals. Additionally, the certification provides access to a global network of professionals and resources, helping individuals to stay up-to-date with the latest trends and best practices in the industry.

ISACA Certified Information Security Manager Sample Questions (Q753-Q758):

NEW QUESTION # 753

Which metric is the BEST indicator that an update to an organization's information security awareness strategy is effective?

- A. A decrease in the number of incidents reported by staff
- B. An increase in the number of incidents reported by staff
- C. An increase in the number of email viruses detected
- D. A decrease in the number of email viruses detected

Answer: A

Explanation:

Section: INFORMATION SECURITY PROGRAM DEVELOPMENT

NEW QUESTION # 754

The PRIMARY reason for assigning classes of sensitivity and criticality to information resources is to provide a basis for:

- A. determining the overall budget of an information security program.
- B. determining the scope for inclusion in an information security program.
- C. justifying costs for information resources.
- D. defining the level of access controls.

Answer: D

Explanation:

Explanation

The assigned class of sensitivity and criticality of the information resource determines the level of access controls to be put in place. The assignment of sensitivity and criticality takes place with the information assets that have already been included in the information security program and has only an indirect bearing on the costs to be incurred. The assignment of sensitivity and criticality contributes to, but does not decide, the overall budget of the information security program.

NEW QUESTION # 755

Which of the following is the PRIMARY benefit of using a tabletop method to conduct an incident response exercise?

- A. The impact of IT systems on business operations is quantified.
- B. Potential impact to business operations is minimized.
- C. Visibility into personnel effectiveness is increased.
- D. The readiness of applications for testing is ensured.

Answer: C

NEW QUESTION # 756

At what stage of the applications development process would encryption key management initially be addressed?

- A. Code reviews
- B. Systems testing
- C. Deployment
- D. Requirements development

Answer: D

Explanation:

Explanation/Reference:

Explanation:

Encryption key management has to be integrated into the requirements of the application's design. During systems testing and deployment would be too late since the requirements have already been agreed upon.

Code reviews are part of the final quality assurance (QA) process and would also be too late in the process.

NEW QUESTION # 757
