Salesforce Certified Industries CPQ Developer Sample Questions (Q308-Q313):

NEW QUESTION # 308
A developer needs to configure a new installation product that will not be charged to customers. The developer creates the product using the installation object type and adds a product code MODEM5G-INST. To simplify configuration, the developer does not configure a price. The developer sets the selling Start Date to 1 month from now.

To test the new product, the developer configures an order in the Cart and selects the default price list. The developer searches the products list, but the new product does not appear.
What is causing this issue?

- A. The product code contains a non-alphanumeric character (-).
- B. The developer did not configure a price.
- C. The developer did not run Refresh Platform Cache.
- D. The Selling Start Date price is in the future.

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 309
What type of parameter is being used in this example API call:
vlocity_cmt/v3/catalogs/Phonesyoffers?context=fStatus":"Active"J

- A. Specifying page size
- B. Specifying a particular logged-in user
- C. No parameters are used
- D. Specifying a context

Answer: D

NEW QUESTION # 310
Which of the following choices are root entity context scopes?
Note: This question displayed answer options in random order when taking this Test.

- A. Account
- B. Opportunity
- C. Order Line Item
- D. Product
- E. Quote
- F. Asset
- G. Contract
- H. Order

Answer: A,B,E,F,G,H

Explanation:
In Salesforce Industries CPQ, root entity context scopes are crucial as they define the main entities that can have context rules applied to them. These root entities include Order, Opportunity, Quote, Asset, Account, and Contract. The context scope defines the environment or the entity for which the rule is applicable, acting as the starting point in the hierarchy for evaluating conditions and enforcing rules.

NEW QUESTION # 311

Note: This question displayed answer options in random order when taking this Test.

- A. Assigning the attribute to a product or an object type
- B. Setting its applicable object to Product2
- C. Creating the attribute through Vlocity Product Console
- D. Setting the type to Product Attribute

Answer: A

Explanation:
An attribute is designated as a product attribute within Salesforce Industries CPQ by assigning it to a product or an object type. This assignment directly links the attribute to a specific product or category, defining its role and function within the product configuration. This is crucial for ensuring that attributes are applicable and visible in contexts where they are relevant, enhancing the configurability and specificity of product offerings within the CPQ system.
