- * Add a vendor
- * Add a Purchaser Code
- * Add Items, including Quantity, to the lines
- * Change the Purchase Order to a Status of Released

This sequence follows the logical flow of creating and finalizing a purchase order for an audit trail:

- * Add a vendor: A purchase order must be linked to a specific supplier (vendor).
- * Add a Purchaser Code: This identifies who is creating the order, which is crucial for accountability and audit purposes.
- * Add Items, including Quantity, to the lines: You must specify what is being purchased and in what quantity.
- * Change the Purchase Order to a Status of Released: Releasing the purchase order locks it from further changes and makes it ready for processing, fulfilling the auditor's requirement for a finalized, traceable document.

NEW QUESTION # 199

A company uses Dynamics 365 Business Central to record payments for vendors. All payment records include similar data elements.

You are onboarding a new vendor. You must create a unique number series for payments from the vendor. No other vendors will use the new number series.

You need to configure the system.

What should you use?

- A. General Journal template
- B. Vendors

- C. Payment journals
- D. Workflow
- E. General Journals

Answer: A

Explanation:

In Microsoft Dynamics 365 Business Central, payments to vendors are usually entered through Payment Journals (which are a type of General Journal). The numbering of transactions in journals is controlled by General Journal Templates and their Journal Batches:

- * General Journal Template
 - * Defines the structure and behavior of a type of journal (e.g., General, Payments, Cash Receipts).
 - * Each template is linked to a Number Series, which determines how entries are numbered when posted.
 - * If you want a vendor-specific numbering, you would create a unique General Journal Template (or adjust a batch under it) and assign a dedicated number series.
- * General Journals / Payment Journals
 - * These are the working pages where the user actually enters transactions. They use the number series defined on the General Journal Template. They don't control the number series themselves.
- * Vendors
 - * The vendor card does not have a dedicated field to define number series for payments. Vendors use the journal's setup.
- * Workflow
 - * Used to automate approvals and processes; it doesn't control number series.

Therefore:

Since the requirement is to create a unique number series specifically for vendor payments, and that number series is controlled at the General Journal Template level, the correct answer is:
