Splunk Enterprise Certified Admin Sample Questions (Q160-Q165):

NEW QUESTION # 160

Within props.conf, which stanzas are valid for data modification? (select all that apply)

- A. Host
- B. Server
- C. Source
- D. Sourcetype

Answer: A,C,D

Explanation:

<https://docs.splunk.com/Documentation/Splunk/8.0.4/Admin/Propsconf#props.conf.spec>

<https://docs.splunk.com/Documentation/Splunk/8.1.1/Admin/Propsconf>

"* Reuse of the same field-extracting regular expression across multiple sources, source types, or hosts."

NEW QUESTION # 161

Which option on the Add Data menu is most useful for testing data ingestion without creating inputs.conf?

- A. Forward option
- B. Download option
- C. Upload option
- D. Monitor option

Answer: C

NEW QUESTION # 162

Seven different network switches are sending traffic to a server hosting a Universal Forwarder. Three of the devices are sending TCP data and four of the devices are sending UDP data.

What is the minimum number of input stanzas that must be created on the Universal Forwarder to successfully capture data from all seven sources?

- A. One
- B. Seven
- C. Four
- D. Two

Answer: D

Explanation:

In Splunk Enterprise and Splunk Universal Forwarder, data inputs are configured using stanzas in inputs.conf

. Each stanza defines a listener for a particular input type (for example, TCP or UDP) and a specific port.

Splunk documentation states that a single TCP input stanza can receive data from multiple remote hosts sending to the same TCP port, and similarly, a single UDP input stanza can receive data from multiple devices sending to the same UDP port. Therefore, the number of sending devices does not determine the number of stanzas required; rather, the input protocol and port type do.

In this case:

* All three TCP devices can send data to one TCP port (one stanza).

* All four UDP devices can send data to one UDP port (one stanza).

Thus, the minimum number of input stanzas required is two - one for TCP and one for UDP.

Example configuration (inputs.conf):

TCP input for three switches sending via TCP

[tcp://9997]

sourcetype = switch_logs

UDP input for four switches sending via UDP

[udp://514]

sourcetype = switch_logs

This configuration ensures all seven devices' logs are collected without creating individual stanzas for each device.

Reference (Splunk Documentation):

* Splunk Enterprise Admin Manual # Configure Data Inputs # "Listen for network data"

* inputs.conf.spec and example # "You can configure a single TCP or UDP input to receive data from multiple remote hosts."

* Splunk Universal Forwarder Manual # Configure Forwarding Inputs # "Universal Forwarders can listen on a single TCP or UDP port for multiple remote data sources."

NEW QUESTION # 163

What type of data is counted against the Enterprise license at a fixed 150 bytes per event?

- A. License data
- B. Internal Windows logs
- C. Internal Splunk data
- D. Metricsdata

Answer: D

NEW QUESTION # 164

What is the difference between the two wildcards ... and - for the monitor stanza in inputs, conf?

- A. There is no difference, they are interchangeable and match anything beyond directory boundaries.
- B. ... matches anything in that specific directory path segment, whereas - recurses through subdirectories as well.
- C. ... is not supported in monitor stanzas
- D. * matches anything in that specific directory path segment, whereas ... recurses through subdirectories as well.

Answer: D

Explanation:

<https://docs.splunk.com/Documentation/Splunk/7.3.0/Data/Specifyinputpathswithwildcards> The ellipsis wildcard searches recursively through directories and any number of levels of subdirectories to find matches.

If you specify a folder separator (for example, //var/log/.../file), it does not match the first folder level, only subfolders.

* The asterisk wildcard matches anything in that specific folder path segment.

Unlike ..., * does not recurse through subfolders.
