Oracle Business Intelligence Foundation Suite 11g Essentials Sample Questions (Q22-Q27):

NEW QUESTION # 22

A customer needs to create a product share calculation. What are the two ways that they would get the revenue for all products to use in the denominator?

- A. Create a derived measure by using the addition function that adds each product value together.
- B. Create a derived measure based on Revenue that has the Level Total Product selected on the Level Tab of the Logical Column Dialog.
- C. Create a derived metric by using the Expression Builder.
- D. Create a derived measure based on Revenue that has all the levels selected on the Level Tab of the Logical Column Dialog except Total Product.

Answer: A,D

Explanation:

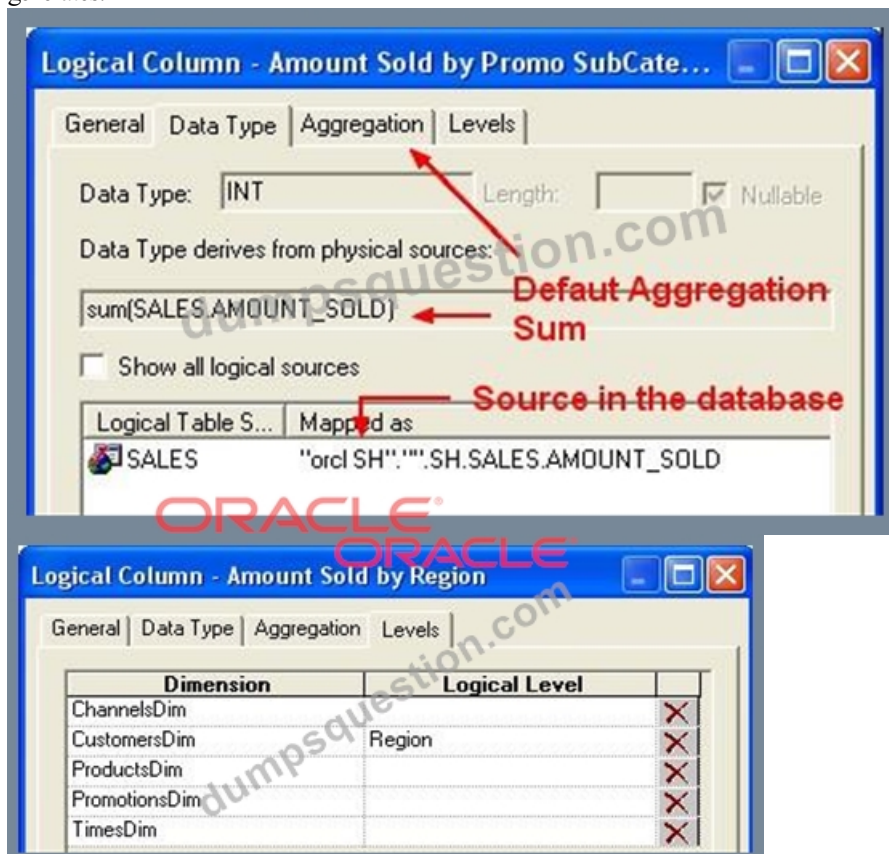

Note: A level-based measure is a column whose values are always calculated to a specific level of aggregation.

The calculation of this measure is independent of the query grain and used always the aggregation grain of the logical column.

Level-based measures allow :

* to return data at multiple levels of aggregation (the query grain and the level-based column grain) with one single query

* to create share measures (percentage), that are calculated by taking some measure and dividing it by a level- based measure. For example, you can divide salesperson revenue by regional revenue to calculate the share of the regional revenue each salesperson generates.
