Answer: A

NEW QUESTION # 65

You are a Test Manager at a company that develops mobile phone applications. Based on historical data in your company, you have calculated the following average metrics for system testing:

- * for each 100 LOC (Lines Of Code), 4 test cases are executed
- * each test case takes on average 15 minutes to execute and check
- * for each 1000 LOC, 5 defects are found

You have used this information to create an estimate for the system testing of a new mobile phone application being developed to submit gas and electricity readings.

The application delivered for system testing has 50.000 lines of code. At the end of system testing, 250 defects are discovered.

Assume that:

- * the system test of the new mobile phone application will require the same amount of effort as previous applications
- * defect density = number of defects/1000 LOC
- * no new tools or processes have been introduced to the test team

Based only on the given information, which one of the following statements is true about this new mobile phone application?

SELECT ONE OPTION

- A. 3000 test cases will be executed during system testing and 250 defects will be found.
- B. The actual number of defects found is the same as the estimated number of defects.
- C. The time taken to run all the estimated tests would be 750 hours.
- D. The source code contains a lower defect density than the source code of past applications

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 66

Which of the following is a typical use of risk analysis?

- A. Forecasting the product delivery date
- B. Determining the design of the tests used to mitigate each identified risk
- C. Identifying the appropriate depth of testing for each identified risk
- D. Deciding what personnel should be assigned to which tests

Answer: C

Explanation:

Risk analysis is typically used to identify the appropriate depth of testing for each identified risk. This involves assessing the potential impact and likelihood of risks to prioritize testing efforts and ensure that high- risk areas are thoroughly tested.

References: The ISTQB Advanced Level Test Manager syllabus and e-learning materials emphasize the importance of organizing and leading risk identification and risk analysis sessions. The outcomes of these sessions are used for test estimation, planning, monitoring, and control, which includes determining the depth of testing based on the identified risks

Given the following figures for the testing on a project, and assuming the failure rate for initial tests remains constant and that all retests pass, what number of tests remain to be run? 3 credits
