Virginia Insurance Virginia Life, Annuities, and Health Insurance Examination Series 11-01 Sample Questions (Q72-Q77):

NEW QUESTION # 72

The period of time during which a new employee is ineligible for group health insurance coverage is called a:

- A. Probationary period
- B. Participation period
- C. Contributory period
- D. Grace period

Answer: A

Explanation:

Virginia Code § 38.2-3445, aligned with ACA rules, allows group health plans to impose a probationary period (option C)-also called a waiting period-before new employees become eligible for coverage, capped at 90 days. This delay, set by the employer, ensures employment stability before benefits begin. Option A (participation period) isn't a standard term; it might confuse with minimum participation rules for group plans. Option B (grace period) is the post-due-date window for premium payment (e.g., 31 days), not eligibility. Option D (contributory period) implies employee premium contributions but isn't a defined phase. The study guide likely explains this as an employer tool, with examples like a 30-day wait, making C the precise term.

NEW QUESTION # 73

A health maintenance organization (HMO) member receives all preventive and routine medical care from the:

- A. Medical director
- B. Provider association
- C. Routine care physician
- D. Primary care physician

Answer: D

Explanation:

Virginia Code § 38.2-4303 defines the HMO model, where the primary care physician (PCP, option A) acts as the gatekeeper, delivering preventive (e.g., vaccines) and routine care (e.g., checkups), and coordinating referrals. Option B (medical director) oversees HMO operations, not direct care. Option C (routine care physician) isn't a standard term; the PCP fills this role. Option D (provider association) might imply a network, but care comes from the individual PCP, not a collective. The study guide likely explains the PCP's central role with examples-e.g., a member seeing their PCP for a flu shot-highlighting HMO cost-control via this structure, making A the correct provider.

NEW QUESTION # 74

Which contract provides an income benefit until the first of two annuitants dies?

- A. A joint and survivor annuity
- B. A single life annuity
- C. A temporary annuity
- D. A joint life annuity

Answer: D

Explanation:

Virginia Code § 38.2-3100 et seq. governs annuities. A joint life annuity (option C) pays income until the first of two annuitants dies, then ceases-ideal for temporary dual coverage. Option A (joint and survivor annuity) continues payments until the last survivor dies, not stopping at the first death. Option B (temporary annuity) pays for a fixed term (e.g., 10 years), regardless of death, and isn't tied to two lives. Option D (single life annuity) covers one person until their death, not two. The study guide likely defines these with examples-e.

g., a couple receiving $1,000 monthly until one dies (joint life) versus until both die (joint and survivor)- highlighting C's "first death" cutoff, making it the correct answer.

NEW QUESTION # 75

Nearly all citizens of the U.S.A., regardless of age, are eligible for Medicare Part B if they are:

- A. Uninsurable through commercial insurers
- B. Eligible for Medicare Part A
- C. Retired permanently
- D. "Fully insured" under Social Security

Answer: B

Explanation:

Detailed Answer in Step-by-Step Solution:

* Medicare Part B eligibility generally requires enrollment in or eligibility for Part A (B), which covers hospital insurance and is tied to age (65+) or disability status, not just retirement (A) or insurability (C).

* "Fully insured" under Social Security (D) relates to benefits but isn't a direct Part B requirement.

The Virginia study guide states that Medicare Part B is available to those eligible for Part A, typically U.S.

citizens or residents aged 65 or disabled, regardless of other factors. Reference: Virginia Life, Annuities, and Health Insurance study guide, section on "Medicare Eligibility."

NEW QUESTION # 76

A typical disability income insurance policy EXCLUDES benefits for which one of the following causes of loss?

- A. Falls
- B. Intentional self-inflicted injuries
- C. Sporting accidents
- D. Permanent injuries

Answer: B

Explanation:

Detailed Answer in Step-by-Step Solution:

* Disability income policies exclude benefits for intentional self-inflicted injuries (B) to prevent abuse or fraud.

* Permanent injuries (A), sporting accidents (C), and falls (D) are typically covered unless specifically excluded by the policy.

The Virginia study guide states that disability income insurance excludes self-inflicted injuries as a standard provision to ensure coverage applies to unforeseen events. Reference: Virginia Life, Annuities, and Health Insurance study guide, section on "Disability Income Insurance."
