Pegasystems Certified Pega Business Architect 24 Sample Questions (Q13-Q18):

NEW QUESTION # 13

The business process for an automobile insurance claim consists of the following phases:

- * Submission: The customer contacts a customer service representative (CSR) to file the claim.
- * Review: An adjuster reviews the claim, assesses the damages to each vehicle, and provides an estimate of the cost of repairs.
- * Repair: A third party performs the repairs on each vehicle, communicating with the adjuster and customer as necessary.
- * Verification: After each vehicle repair, the adjuster closes the claim.

According to Pega best practices, which phase can you implement as a child case?

- A. Repair
- B. Verification
- C. Submission
- D. Review

Answer: A

Explanation:

Submission: This phase involves the initial contact and filing of the claim, which typically doesn't need to be a separate case as it's an initial action.

Review: This phase involves an adjuster reviewing the claim and assessing damages, which can be handled within the primary case.

Reference: Pega Academy, Case Management Essentials, Case Lifecycle Design.

Repair: The repair phase involves interaction with third-party vendors and ongoing communication, making it suitable to be implemented as a child case to track each repair separately.

Reference: Pega Academy, Case Management Essentials, Child Cases.

Verification: This phase is a closing action performed after repairs, which doesn't typically require a separate case.

NEW QUESTION # 14

Life insurance company has satellite offices in various countries. Each satellite office has a work queue.

Company policy requires that life insurance underwriting be signed to offices based on the policy owner's residential address.

Which routing approach supports this requirement?

- A. Route the assignment to the correct work queue by using a reporting structure.
- B. Route the assignment to the correct work queue based on business logic.
- C. Route the assignment to a specific underwriter based on business logic.
- D. Route the assignment to the correct work queue by using an authority matrix.

Answer: B

Explanation:

To route life insurance underwriting assignments to the correct satellite office based on the policy owner's residential address, using business logic is the most appropriate approach. This approach involves:

* Define Routing Rules: Create decision rules or decision tables that map the policy owner's residential address to the corresponding satellite office's work queue.

* Implement Business Logic: Configure the routing step in the case type to use these decision rules. The business logic will determine the correct work queue based on the address.

* Route to Work Queue: The assignment is routed to the work queue of the satellite office that corresponds to the policy owner's residential address.

This method ensures that each assignment is accurately directed to the appropriate office based on predefined business logic.
